Nehru, Chou Offer Plan Of Free Asia

Would Create States as Basis to Settle Indochina Politics; War Unmentioned

New Delhi, India, June 28 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru of India and Premier Chou En-lai of Red China called jointly today for an Indochinese political settlement creating free states "which should not be used for aggressive purposes or be subjected to foreign intervention."

A communique issued after Chou's departure for Rangoon, Burma, made no mention of an armistice in the Indochina war. This seemed to indicate that they took it for granted an armistice will be achieved there soon. French Premier Mendes-France has promised his people one by July 20.

Two Days in Rangoon

The Chinese premier plans to spend two days in Rangoon for talks with Prime Minister U Nu before pushing on to Peiping.

His three-day visit to India left stern-faced Chou well entrenched with Prime Minister Nehru's government.

Chou climaxed his stay here by suggesting that Asian chiefs of state get together periodically to work for peace and to evolve "mutual respect" pacts similar to the one India had signed with China April 29 to govern relations with Communist-occupied Tibet.

Chou's proposal for an Asian get-together drew no distinctions between Communist and non-Communist nations. He said it applied to the "principal Asian countries."

He told newsmen in a press conference statement: "It is my view that, in order to seek common measures for the maintenance of peace and security in Asia, it is desirable for the appropriate persons of the principal Asian countries to meet occasionally and to consult with one another."

Only Beginning

Both Chou and Nehru intimated that their declarations of 'mutual friendship and cooperation were only a beginning in closer relations between their big nations.

Sources close to Chou's tight-mouthed delegation arrived at this estimate of the Chinese leader's plan:

Chou hopes with India's active assistance to build a stout Asian wall both politically and economically and thus oust western interests.

The keystone of his program is "Asia for the Asians" and Itsaim is to combat so-called colonialism.

Economic cooperation will play an equal part with political understanding, because Chou is under orders to find through Asian sources a subsstitute for China's needs blocked by western embargoes.

It is expected the pattern of the New Delhi talks will be followed in Rangoon. N. R. Pillai, secretary general of the Indian foreign ministry, accompanied the Chinese party to Burma.

Observers here speculated that Chou might arrange a stopover in Jakarta for similar talks with the heads of Indonesia's Communist-supported government.

Alfred Hutty, 76, Dies at Woodstock; Was Noted Artist

Watercolorist, Etcher Was Ill Short Time; Funeral to Be Wednesday

Alfred H. Hutty, 76, noted watercolor artist and etcher of Woodstock and Charleston, S. C., died Sunday evening at "Broadview," his home on Ohayo mountain, after a short illness.

Friends may call at the Lasher Funeral Home in Woodstock any time Tuesday evening. Services will be held at the grave in Artists Memorial Cemetery, Woodstock, Wednesday at 2 p. m. The Rev. Harold Swezy will officiate.

Mr. Hutty is survived by his widow, Bessie Crafton Hutty; a son, Warren Crafton Hutty, and granddaughter, Patience, of Woodstock, and a brother, Joseph Hutty of Bearsville.

Won Many Honors

Alfred H. Hutty, to whom came many honors for his watercolor paintings and etchings, was born in Grand Haven, Mich., September 16, 1877, son of the late Joseph Warren and Susan Browning Hutty.

He married Bessie Burris Crafton on April 16, 1902.

Educated in art under American masters, he came to Woodstock in 1907 to study under Birge Harrison. He was one of the original directors of the Woodstock Artists Association. Along with George Bellows and Eugene Speicher, Hutty was one of the first of the artists to buy one of the old farms, which at that time was considered "miles away from town." It was the Wesley France sheep farm, where he lived many summers. During the winter he resided at 46 Tradd street, Charleston, S. C.

'Poet of Line, Color'

Often referred to as the "poet of line and color," Hutty was particularly well-known for his water colors, dry paints and etchings of South Carolina. The most famous of his works was probably his etching, "Deep South," a rhythmic composition depicting a Negro man and woman plodding home beneath ancient moss hung oaks. It was included in a picture series, "Prize Prints of America," in the New York Times Magazine on October 9, 1947.

During World War 2, and for some time after, he was one of the Woodstock artists who made regular trips to the Castle Point Veterans Hospital at Beacon to make portrait sketches of the patients under a project sponsored by the American Theatre Wing.

Prospects Only for Partial Agreement on Southeast Asian Pact Issue

Washington, June 28 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill declared today they will "press forward with plans for collective defense" of Southeast Asia, regardless of whether peace negotiations for Indochina are successful.

Final Talk Held

Washington, June 28 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill opened the last scheduled meeting of their Washington conference today with prospects of only partial agreement on the divisive Southeast Asian pact issue.

The two men met in the President's office shortly after 10 a. m. White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said they were being joined by Foreign Secretary Eden, Secretary of State Dulles and staff advisors.

Meanwhile, House Speaker Martin (R.-Mass.) and Senate GOP Leader Knowland (Calif.) said congressional leaders received from Dulles in Eisenhower's presence this morning a report that made the Southeast Asian situation appear "more encouraging." Both said they were not speaking particularly about the Churchill-Eisenhower talks which Dulles discussed briefly with them.

Other sources said there had been a blend of successes and failures in the efforts by Eisenhower and Churchill to resolve differences between American and British policies.

Word was spread that a communique on the British-American talks might be issued immediately upon the end of the final scheduled session or a short time thereafter. Previously officials had indicated that the earliest release time possible was late this afternoon.

Switch May Bring Fight Conclusion

Army Leaders Opposed to Strong Influence of Reds; Rebel Win Reported

Guatemala, June 28 (AP)—Leftist President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman resigned under the pressure of the army and military reverses last night. He handed over the government reins to a military junta headed by Col. Carlos Enrique Diaz, 39-year-old army chief of staff.

Diaz in a broadcast pledged the army to continue the war against the invading exiles led by Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, but the switch in government appeared to signal the end of the Communists' strong influence on the regime Arbenz has led. Army leaders are known to have become increasingly opposed recently to the Reds' strong influence on the government.

The ouster of the 41-year-old Arbenz followed reports of a big rebel victory at Zacapa, key railroad center 75 miles northeast of the capital. Army forces, particularly their artillery, were reported shattered there.

Support for Rebels

News of the army reverses was followed by a rising tide of popular support for the rebels, whose "radio liberation" had called Saturday for the armed forces to revolt, jail Arbenz and form a military junta to negotiate a ceasefire.

With the rebels reported last night some 70 miles from the capital and moving on it, the battle for Guatemala was expected here to end within 48 hours. The Communists, backed by hastily armed and trained labor groups, were expected to try to keep up the fight, however.

(Diplomats in Washington speculated that the army takeover was a maneuver to give the military a chance to negotiate the best terms it could from Castillo Armas and his rebel forces. In Tegucigalpa, capital of neighboring Honduras, U. S. Ambassador Whiting Willauer said the change looked to him like "a maneuver to get themselves into a position where it will not be an unconditional surrender."

(Luis Coronado, secretary general of the rebel provisional government proclaimed by Castillo Armas, said in Tegucigalpa that the rebel fight would continue with redoubled impetus unless the resignation of Arbenz means the acceptance of our ultimatum and the turning over of the government to insurgent leader Castillo Armas.)

Considerable Shooting

Although the military operations appeared rapidly drawing to an end, foreign observers here predicted there would be considerable shooting and resistance before the Communists are cleaned out.

These observers said that with an end to air raids and accompanying blackouts, there would be less chance of wild shooting and as a result American property would be safer. They forecast a sharp clamp-down on Communist activity throughout Central America.

Most observers felt convinced the more rabid Communists would seek revenge for what they consider a U. S. victory, and that considerable bloodshed would result. But they believe that the general situation will be considerably eased.

Arbenz's resignation climaxed a day of mass defections from his cause by leading cabinet ministers, army officers and others who fled to the Salvadorean embassy in Guatemala City for refuge.

Throughout the day the capital was tense, its streets empty as the populace stayed indoors and listened intently to their radios.

Thruway Work Is Halted Between Kingston, Suffern

Laborers Seeking Wage Boost of 12½ Cents Hourly to Make Pay $2.22½

Thruway construction work between Kingston and Suffern apparently was at a virtual standstill today as Local 17, International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union, set up picket lines against all contractors.

Usually reliable sources reported the laborers are seeking a 12½ cent hourly wage boost, which would bring the pay scale for laborers to $2.22½ an hour.

Approximately 600 members of Local 17 were reported off their jobs, and members of other unions appeared to be honoring their picket lines this morning.

In the vicinity of Kingston, the pickets were on the jobs well before 8 a. m. and work was at a standstill. In the southern portion of the area, however, it was learned that pickets did not appear until 8:30 a. m. and that some engineers and other workers who were already at work at that hour, continued on the job.

Result of Agreement

The wage increase demand came as a result of an agreement with resident contractors negotiated last month in the Newburgh area, it was reported.

Local 17 and other construction workers are said to have an "understanding" with outside contractors—such as those on the Thruway project—to pay the same rates as paid by resident contractors. Last month the Master Builders of Newburgh negotiated a 12½ cent raise with resident contractors in that area, and Local 17 claims it immediately thereafter served notice on Thruway contractors that unless they granted a similar increase the men would strike on June 28.

Unofficial reports indicate that a meeting between contractors and union officials will take place in Kingston this afternoon.

Comes as Surprise

Indications were strong this morning that the picket lines

British Press Says Churchill Wins American Approval

London, June 28 (AP)—All but one of London's morning newspapers told their readers today that Prime Minister Churchill is winning American approval for Britain's go-slow policy in southeast Asia.

The independent and influential Times, in its account of the Washington talks, said that "even now agreement seems no nearer."

But headlines in other morning papers left a different impression. The Daily Mirror, a pro-Labor tabloid, said: "Churchill and Eden putting the brake on Ike."

The Mirror's Washington correspondent said flatly:

"There will be no rush into united action in southeast Asia and there will be no immediate southeast Asia alliance of the western powers—on the lines of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO)—as America wished.....

House Begins Debate Of Foreign Aid Plan

Measure Comes Up at Time Congress Is Irked at Anglo Talk

Washington, June 28 (AP)—The House today starts considering the 3½-billion-dollar foreign aid program amid signs the debate will range over the whole foreign policy field.

The measure, always controversial, comes up at a time when many congressmen are irked at British proposals for a far eastern non-agression pact and French efforts to obtain an early Indochina truce.

Twelve members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee have advised President Esenhower that, unless he repudiates in "unmistakably clear" terms any American support for a non-agression treaty with Asian Communists, the foreign aid program "must be reexamined."

Lone Star Company Scheduled to Open

Plant Official Says Men Vote to Accept One-Year Pact

Hudson, June 28 (AP) — The strike-bound Lone Star Cement Co. was scheduled to reopen today in the wake of a settlement yesterday of a seven-week work boycott by its 260 employes.

Plant Superintendent Robert Jager announced yesterday that the workers, members of the AFL Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers, had voted Saturday night to accept a new one-year contract and return to work.

Jager said the contract—similar to the agreement that ended strikes at two other Hudson valley cement plants last week—provided for a 5-cent hourly pay increase and pay for holiday work at 2½ the straight-time rate. The contract, he said, would take effect with the resumption of work.

Scheduled Today

Formal signing of the pact and reopening of the plant was scheduled for today, Jager said.

Union officials could not be reached for comment.

The strike, which closed six Hudson valley plants, shut down a total of 30 plants in the northeast, crippling cement production and hampering construction on major projects in the area, including the New York state thruway.

The three other plants still idle in the Hudson valley are the Universal-Atlas plant here and the Alpha and Lehigh plants near Catskill.

Pre-strike wages at the plants ranged from $1.50 to $2 an hour. The union had been holding out for a 10 per cent pay boost and some fringe benefits.

Fox Chases Cat

Mrs. Charles Mason of 170 South Wall street, notified local police at 6:50 p. m., Saturday that a gray fox had chased her cat on the property. She thought the animal might be rabid and said she frightened it into nearby weeds. Special Officers Gerard McCloskey and Benjamin Osterhoudt searched the area but reported no animal in sight.

Two Men Injured Fatally in Dutchess

Rhinebeck, June 28 (AP)—Two men were injured fatally and two others hurt in a head-on collision of two automobiles two miles north of here on Route 9 last night.

The dead were listed as Carlton Harrison, 19, of Rhinebeck, who died early today at Northern Dutchess Health Center here; and Max Trombini, 33, of Rhinebeck, who was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

The identifications were announced by Dr. William Thompson, assistant medical examiner of Dutchess county.

The injured were Autie Joseph Anderson, 20, of Glenham, fractured neck, and Charles D. Farmer, 23, Rhinebeck, minor injuries. Both are patients at the health center.

Police said the cars were driven by Anderson and Farmer.

St. James Church Seeks New Pastor Due to Decision

Minister Who Accepted Call Will Not Come to Kingston, He Tells Board

Members of the official board of St. James Methodist Church were notified late last week by the Rev. James Salter Hood, who had accepted a call to the church as successor to the Rev. Dr. Ralph M. Houston, that he had decided not to come to Kingston. The Rev. Mr. Hood was to have filled the pulpit of local church on Sunday. In his absence the district superintendent, the Rev. Dr. D. George Davies, supplied.

The Rev. Mr. Hood, who was to come to Kingston from the Middletown, Conn., Methodist Church, gave no reason for his decision, according to an official of St. James Church.

Dr. Davies, superintendent of the Kingston District, was out of town this morning and not available for comment.

Party Officials Watch 3 Congressional Ballotings

Baltimore, June 28 (AP)—National party officials showed special interest in three of the seven congressional fights today as Marylanders named their candidates for the November elections.

Amid this high-level attention Dr. H. C. Byrd and paving contractor George P. Mahoney vied for the Democratic nominations.

Election supervisors predicted about one-third of the 1,065,180 eligible voters would turn out.

An even smaller showing was expected on the Republican side, where Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin sougnt renomination in a state where his party is outnumbered 2-1 by the Democrats. McKeldin has practically ignored his three opponents, Baltimore used car dealer Temus R. Bright, retired Marine Lt. Pedro A. del Valle, and James W. Gum, Montgomery county farmer and lawyer.

With the GOP holding four of the seven Maryland congressional seats, national chieftains of both parties looked for sore spots and possible November breakthroughs.

Mentioned among these in dispatches from national party headquarters were the first, fifth and seventh district seats occupied by Republicans Edward T. Miller and Frank Small, Jr. and Democrat Samuel N. Friedel, respectively.

Miller, who broke a long series of Democratic victories in his district eight years ago, is opposed for a fifth term by Mrs. Alonsita Walker, a wealthy oil widow.

Small faced opposition from Robert E. Ennis of Capitol Heights and Friedel from Henry R. Hergenroeder, a professor at Baltimore Loyola College.

There was no primary opposition to the other incumbents, Republicans James P. S. Devereux in the second district and DeWitt S. Hyde in the sixth, and Democrats George H. Fallon in the fourth and Edward A. Garmatz in the third.

In a televised wind-up campaign speech last night Byrd, who resigned as University of Maryland president to try for the governorship, said he had evidence Mahoney was aided in his campaign by public relations man Jon Jonkel. Three years ago Jonkel was fined $5,000 after pleading guilty to violating state elections laws as director of Republican John Marshall Butler's successful campaign for the U. S. Senate.

The Mahoney camp issue a heated denial, saying it had nothing to do with Jonkel, who in 1950 was blamed for use of a controversial composite photograph in Butler's campaign against Democratic veteran Millard E. Tydings.

Ex-Secret Police Commander Tells of Betraying Million

Munich, Germany, June 28 (AP)—A former Russian secret police commander told in chilling detail today how he helped betray and deport a million of Stalin's subjects because they wanted independence from the Kremlin.

Lt. Col. Grigori Stapanovich Burlitski, 36, emerged into the glare of television floodlights to tell of racial murder in the Soviet Union. He has been hidden in the west for a year by U. S. intelligence agents. He deserted to the west last June but it was kept secret until he testified today before a U. S. congressional committee on Communist aggression, now in session here.

As the tiny, blue-eyed Cossack left the crowded committee room for lunch, Chairman Charles J. Kersten (R.-Wis.) told everyone to remain seated for one minute. This was to allow guards to whisk Burlitski safely away.

Speaking through an interpreter, Burlitski described how rebellious non-Russian peoples like the Checheno-Ingush mountain people in the Caucasus and the Tatars of the Crimea were trapped by Soviet security forces in merciless "Trojan-horse" operations.

He told how a million people were fooled into believing Soviet Russian overtures of friendship so that they dropped their guard. Then they found themselves herded into cattle cars for deportation to the wastes of Siberia under the guns of men they had been entertaining as guests.

Burlitski said the Kermlin could not tolerate any independence movements so simply wiped out whole regions, leaving the land silent and deserted until new settlers could be found.

Burlitski said the Kremlin during World War 2 wiped out the tiny autonomous state of Checheno-Ingush in the Caucasus. Its

House Begins Debate Of Foreign Aid Plan

Measure Comes Up at Time Congress Is Irked at Anglo Talk

Washington, June 28 (AP)—The House today starts considering the 3½-billion-dollar foreign aid program amid signs the debate will range over the whole foreign policy field.

The measure, always controversial, comes up at a time when many congressmen are irked at British proposals for a far eastern non-agression pact and French efforts to obtain an early Indochina truce.

Twelve members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee have advised President Esenhower that, unless he repudiates in "unmistakably clear" terms any American support for a non-agression treaty with Asian Communists, the foreign aid program "must be reexamined."

At the same time, strong elec-

Lone Star Company Scheduled to Open

Plant Official Says Men Vote to Accept One-Year Pact

Hudson, June 28 (AP) — The strike-bound Lone Star Cement Co. was scheduled to reopen today in the wake of a settlement yesterday of a seven-week work boycott by its 260 employes.

Plant Superintendent Robert Jager announced yesterday that the workers, members of the AFL Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers, had voted Saturday night to accept a new one-year contract and return to work.

Jager said the contract—similar to the agreement that ended strikes at two other Hudson valley cement plants last week—provided for a 5-cent hourly pay increase and pay for holiday work at 2½ the straight-time rate. The contract, he said, would take effect with the resumption of work.

Scheduled Today

Formal signing of the pact and reopening of the plant was scheduled for today, Jager said.

Union officials could not be reached for comment.

The strike, which closed six Hudson valley plants, shut down a total of 30 plants in the northeast, crippling cement production and hampering construction on major projects in the area, including the New York state thruway.

The three other plants still idle in the Hudson valley are the Universal-Atlas plant here and the Alpha and Lehigh plants near Catskill.

Pre-strike wages at the plants ranged from $1.50 to $2 an hour. The union had been holding out for a 10 per cent pay boost and some fringe benefits.

Mrs. Charles Mason of 170 South Wall street, notified local police at 6:50 p. m., Saturday that a gray fox had chased her cat on the property. She thought the animal might be rabid and said she frightened it into nearby weeds. Special Officers Gerard McCloskey and Benjamin Osterhoudt searched the area but reported no animal in sight.

St. James Church Seeks New Pastor Due to Decision

Minister Who Accepted Call Will Not Come to Kingston, He Tells Board

Members of the official board of St. James Methodist Church were notified late last week by the Rev. James Salter Hood, who had accepted a call to the church as successor to the Rev. Dr. Ralph M. Houston, that he had decided not to come to Kingston. The Rev. Mr. Hood was to have filled the pulpit of local church on Sunday. In his absence the district superintendent, the Rev. Dr. D. George Davies, supplied.

The Rev. Mr. Hood, who was to come to Kingston from the Middletown, Conn., Methodist Church, gave no reason for his decision, according to an official of St. James Church.

Dr. Davies, superintendent of the Kingston District, was out of town this morning and not available for comment.

Samuel D. Scudder, Jr., treasurer of St. James Church, said

Party Officials Watch 3 Congressional Ballotings

Baltimore, June 28 (AP)—National party officials showed special interest in three of the seven congressional fights today as Marylanders named their candidates for the November elections.

Amid this high-level attention Dr. H. C. Byrd and paving contractor George P. Mahoney vied for the Democratic nominations.

Election supervisors predicted about one-third of the 1,065,180 eligible voters would turn out.

An even smaller showing was expected on the Republican side, where Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin sought renomination in a state where his party is outnumbered 2-1 by the Democrats. McKeldin has practically ignored his three opponents, Baltimore used car dealer Temus R. Bright, retired Marine Lt. Pedro A. del Valle, and James W. Gum, Montgomery county farmer and lawyer.

With the GOP holding four of the seven Maryland congressional seats, national chieftains of both parties looked for sore spots and possible November breakthroughs.

Mentioned among these in dispatches from national party headquarters were the first, fifth and seventh district seats occupied by Republicans Edward T. Miller and Frank Small, Jr. and Democrat Samuel N. Friedel, respectively.

Miller, who broke a long series of Democratic victories in his district eight years ago, is opposed for a fifth term by Mrs. Alonsita Walker, a wealthy oil widow.

Small faced opposition from Robert E. Ennis of Capitol Heights and Friedel from Henry R. Hergenroeder, a professor at Baltimore Loyola College.

There was no primary opposition to the other incumbents, Republicans James P. S. Devereux in the second district and DeWitt S. Hyde in the sixth, and Democrats George H. Fallon in the fourth and Edward A. Garmatz in the third.

In a televised wind-up campaign speech last night Byrd, who resigned as University of Maryland president to try for the governorship, said he had evidence Mahoney was aided in his campaign by public relations man Jon Jonkel. Three years ago Jonkel was fined $5,000 after pleading guilty to violating state elections laws as director of Republican John Marshall Butler's successful campaign for the U. S. Senate.

The Mahoney camp issue a heated denial, saying it had nothing to do with Jonkel, who in 1950 was blamed for use of a controversial composite photograph in Butler's campaign against Democratic veteran Millard E. Tydings.

British Press Says Churchill Wins American Approval

London, June 28 (AP)—All but one of London's morning newspapers told their readers today that Prime Minister Churchill is winning American approval for Britain's go-slow policy in southeast Asia.

The independent and influential Times, in its account of the Washington talks, said that "even now agreement seems no nearer."

But headlines in other morning papers left a different impression. The Daily Mirror, a pro-Labor tabloid, said: "Churchill and Eden putting the brake on Ike."

The Mirror's Washington correspondent said flatly:

"There will be no rush into united action in southeast Asia and there will be no immediate southeast Asia alliance of the western powers—on the lines of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO)—as America wished.....

Ex-Secret Police Commander Tells of Betraying Million

Munich, Germany, June 28 (AP)—A former Russian secret police commander told in chilling detail today how he helped betray and deport a million of Stalin's subjects because they wanted independence from the Kremlin.

Lt. Col. Grigori Stapanovich Burlitski, 36, emerged into the glare of television floodlights to tell of racial murder in the Soviet Union. He has been hidden in the west for a year by U. S. intelligence agents. He deserted to the west last June but it was kept secret until he testified today before a U. S. congressional committee on Communist aggression, now in session here.

As the tiny, blue-eyed Cossack left the crowded committee room for lunch, Chairman Charles J. Kersten (R.-Wis.) told everyone to remain seated for one minute. This was to allow guards to whisk Burlitski safely away.

Speaking through an interpreter, Burlitski described how rebellious non-Russian peoples like the Checheno-Ingush mountain people in the Caucasus and the Tatars of the Crimea were trapped by Soviet security forces in merciless "Trojan-horse" operations.

He told how a million people were fooled into believing Soviet Russian overtures of friendship so that they dropped their guard. Then they found themselves herded into cattle cars for deportation to the wastes of Siberia under the guns of men they had been entertaining as guests.

Burlitski said the Kermlin could not tolerate any independence movements so simply wiped out whole regions, leaving the land silent and deserted until new settlers could be found.

Burlitski said the Kremlin during World War 2 wiped out the tiny autonomous state of Checheno-Ingush in the Caucasus. Its

Two Persons Hurt In Local Crashes

Two persons were injured in three city traffic mishaps over the weekend and one early today.

Anna M. Porsch, 58, of 90 Broadway suffered injuries of the forehead and chin in a car-truck collision at Broadway and McEntee streets this morning.

A police report at 3:18 a. m., said the car of John Leskie, 46, of 122 Newkirk avenue, headed north on Broadway and a trailer truck headed south were in collision.

The tractor, driven by William Doherty, of Glens Falls, was owned by William H. Warner, of Glens Falls and was hauling a trailer owned by Robert Hoag of Fort Edward.

Utility Wires Down

Wires were reported down and the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., the New York Telephone Co., and fire department were notified.

Hohenberger claimed, the report said, that a car headed south on Albany avenue, cut in front of him and forced his car into a pole.

Officer George Dougherty reported at 1:10 a. m., Sunday that a pole at East Chester street and Broadway was struck by a car operated by Louis Linardo, of White Plains, as he backed up on the side near the gasoline station.

Car Towed From Scene

The police report said Anna M. Porsch was taken to Kingston Hospital in the Schultz ambulance for treatment and Leski was also taken to the hospital, checked and discharged. The car was reported towed from the scene and the third axle of the truck was reported knocked off in the mishap. Officers Edward Edwards, William Slover, Gilbert Gray and Harold Bowers were dispatched to investigate and direct traffic.

Officers Joseph Kivlan and Everett Emmick reported at 2:27 a. m., Sunday that the car of Robert J. Uhl, of Colonial Gardens driven by Rudi J. Hohenberger, 17, of 100 TenBroeck avenue, headed north on Albany avenue struck a pole at Albany avenue and East St. James street, breaking it at its base.

Officer Crawford Millham reported at 7:15 p. m., Sunday that the car of Adrian Beadle, 50, of Boiceville, was damaged on the rear bumper and trunk when it was struck in the rear by the car of Dominick Petromale, 30, of 440 Washington avenue, as both were headed south on Washington avenue and stopping in a line of traffic. Ruth Bovee, of 198 Foxhall avenue, reported a neck injury.

Four drivers were arrested on charges of speeding over the weekend.

Edward Francus, 46, of 119 Linderman avenue was arrested by Officer Gurnsey Burger, Jr., on East St. James street at 5:20 p. m., Saturday. It was charged that he was driving 50 miles an hour. He forfeited $15 bail through failure to appear before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today.

Bail Is Forfeited

Burger also arrested Jack Schwartz, 51, of 1173 Grand Concourse, New York, and George Hartman, 52, of 461 Washington avenue on Broadway near Brewster street Sunday morning. Schwartz forfeited $15 and Hartman $10 bail through failure to appear in City Court.

Officers Harold Bowers and Gilbert Gray arrested Donald L. Lyons, 19, of 211 O'Neill street at 11:30 p. m., Sunday on a charge that he was speeding 60 miles an hour on Albany avenue. He is due to appear in court Tuesday morning.

Scores Tennis Upset

Wimbledon, England, June 28 (AP)—Jaroslav Drobny, the self-exiled Czech, scored the greatest upset of the 68th Wimbledon tennis championships today when he defeated second-seeded Lewis Hoad, Australia's leading player, in straight sets to reach the semi-finals. The scores were 6-4, 6-3, 6-3. The 33-year-old Drobny, who fled his Communist homeland in 1949, now makes his home in Egypt. He was eleventh on the list of 12 seeded players for the men's singles. The elimination of Hoad made the prospects look easier for top-seeded Tony Trabert of Cincinnati. Trabert today trounced Australia's Mervyn Rose, 6-2, 6-2, 7-5.

Plane Crash Probed

March Air Force Base, Calif., June 28 (AP)—Investigation was under way into the crash of an air force refueling plane yesterday with a loss of 14 lives. The KC97 strato tanker struck Box Springs mountain while groping through overcast for a landing at Norton AFB, San Bernardino. The pilot had asked permission to land at March AFB here, 12 miles south of Norton. But because of a local overcast, the plane was directed by radio to land at Norton. Box Springs Mountain is between the two bases. After striking the mountain, the four-engine plane burst into flames. Ninety minutes later ground rescue units reached the scene and radioed that there were no survivors.

Truman 'Improves'

Kansas City, June 28 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman, was listed on a hospital report this morning as "a little improved but still in serious condition." The report said Truman spent a restful night. His gall bladder and appendix were removed eight days ago. This report was made before the 70-year-old former chief executive was examined this morning by his personal physician, Dr. Wallace A. Graham.

Economic Issue

San Diego (AP)—The police blotter reported this repartee in a bar: A husband slapped his wife. She punched him. Then husband raised a beer bottle over his wife's head. She said, 'You better not hurt me. Don't forget, I'm the only one in the family that's working."

British Official To Join Aries' Reception Tuesday

Clive Eborall, first secretary of the British Embassy in Washington, is due to arrive here Tuesday to join in the local reception given for the crew of the Aries, the small motor craft, which recently crossed the Atlantic, Larry V. Bogert, chairman of the local reception committee, announced this afternoon.

Eborall is now in New York and will drive here tomorrow in time to greet the Aries which is to sail from New York to this city. He will remain with the crew until the Aries sails from here early Thursday.

Plans Completed For Arrival of Aries on Tuesday

Local plans were completed today to meet the British craft Aries, which is due to arrive here Tuesday between 4 and 5 p. m.

The converted lifeboat will sail up the Hudson from New York where it arrived last Thursday after a rough 33-day crossing of the Atlantic. It will be met by a flotilla of pleasure boats and immediately after its arrival here, its captain Cecil Harcourt-Smith will be presented with the key to the city.

The crew will be housed at local homes tomorrow night and will be officially greeted at the City Hall at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday. After the reception the crew will be taken in cars supplied by the Automobile Association to the Senate House and Museum and later will be guests at the Rotary luncheon meeting.

Will Tour County

After the Rotary meeting the crew will be taken in cars of the reception committee, headed by Larry V. Bogert, on a tour of the county's resort area. They will travel over the N. Y. State Thruway to Saugerties, from there to Woodstock and to Belleayre in the Highmount area.

They will return by the Onteora Trail (Route 28) and stop at the headworks of the Ashokan reservoir on the way back. They are scheduled to make a local television appearance at 8 p. m., following which they will be guests of Hoppey's Restaurant on Wall street for dinner.

Jack Feye, chairman of dinner arrangements, said the way has been left open for local persons to join the group at the dinner hour on a Dutch treat basis.

Return Trip Thursday

The Aries, which set out May 22 to set a record for small craft in the crossing of the North Atlantic and return, ran into storms and was forced to stop at the Azores and Bermuda. It is due to leave here on its return trip early Thursday morning.

President

reach any decisive agreement for quick action on creation of a Southeast Asian Alliance against Communist aggression. The United States has been urging a definite timetable. Britain has opposed action so long as Indochina peace negotiations are pending.

At the same time there was reason to believe Eisenhower and Churchill had agreed to press for prompt French ratification of a European Defense Community (EDC) Treaty under which West Germany would be armed.

It was also understood that they had agreed that no effort is too great which promises constructive results of lifting from the world the dangers of an atomic war.

Following the morning business meeting, Churchill was scheduled to attend a press luncheon and answer written questions posed by newsmen.

This was to be his only public appearance and provide his only public statements here aside from his participation in a communique.

Subject to Change

Officials said today's program was subject to change should the President and Prime Minister decide they needed more time.

But the program called for Churchill to say goodbye at the White House immediately before going to the press lunch, to move into the British embassy for an overnight stay and to take off for a flying visit with Canadian government officials at Ottawa Tuesday afternoon (3:30 p. m. EDT).

Sunday proved to be a working day like any other for Eisenhower, Churchill, Secretary of State Dulles and Foreign Secretary Eden as well as their staffs. There was an hour's private talk between Churchill and Dulles followed by a White House lunch meeting with atomic energy officials of both countries. In the afternoon the President and the 79-year-old Prime Minister met for a one-hour talk. Dulles and Eden with their top advisers met at Dulles home.

Last night the group dined at the White House and Dulles and Eden gave their chiefs a report on what they had been able to accomplish in their afternoon session, which included work on the communique.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 28 (AP) — The stock market was slightly higher in early afternoon trading today. A few stocks scored wide gains.

Trading was at a good pace. On Friday, when 2,060,000 shares changed hands, the market hit a new high since Oct. 23, 1929.

On the other hand, a weakening of prices for gasoline and fuel oil sent most petroleum shares lower. Off around a point in early afternoon were Cities Service, Amerada, Phillips, Lion Oil, Sinclair, and Seaboard Oil.

Husband Is Held After Wife Is Hospitalized

An Ardonia woman, 26, is in Vassar Hospital with severe cuts of the face and head and her husband, a 36-year-old laborer, is being held for an examination on a second degree assault charge.

State police charged that Roosevelt Williams, 36, of Ardonia, used a broken bottle in an assault upon his wife, Mamie, at Ardonia Sunday night.

Mrs. Williams was taken to the hospital, where her condition today was reported as fairly good. Williams was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Hobart Smalley of the town of Plattekill and was ordered held for examination on June 29.

Diaz Pledges

spread through the city during the day as the Communist-dominated labor unions sent their members circling through the city in jeeps, shouting "go home, Yanks." They also fired several shots.

The sentiment appeared to subside after Arbenz' broadcast last night. Later Diaz told newsmen he would protect U. S. interests.

He and other army leaders decided that Arbenz must go at an all-day meeting yesterday. Then Diaz, Lt. Col. Carlossarti, head of the national superior council of defense, and Col. Enrique Parinello communicated their decision to the President.

Arbenz was reported extremely angry but agreed to get out after the army guaranteed the safety of himself and his family.

Arbenz announced his resignation personally in a broadcast at 9 p. m. on the government radio.

He said he was stepping down "with bitter pain but with the firm conviction that the people will retain what has cost so much in this struggle of tears and blood."

"The day will come when there will be triumph for loyal Guatemalans under Col. Diaz," he declared.

Arbenz bitterly attacked the United Fruit Co., of Boston, which he has accused of backing the rebel invasion in revenge for his government's expropriation of part of the company's vast holdings in Guatemala.

He also accused "mercenary North American aviators" of bombing and sinking the 2,036-ton British-owned merchant ship Springfjord in the harbor of San Jose, Guatemala, yesterday. Officials said the ship was bombed at anchor in the Pacific port by an unidentified plane and was set afire.

Thruway Work Is

came as a surprise to other union members and may lead to some internal differences within the Ulster-Sullivan Building Trades Council, of which Local 17 is a member.

George E. Yerry, Jr., president of the Carpenters Union, said today Carpenters Union men had permission to cross the picket line, "because of the circumstances involved." As individuals, however, none of the carpenters did cross the line this morning, apparently.

Under usual procedure, no member local may set up a picket line on a construction job such as the Thruway job without having the permission of the Building Trades Council. Such permission was apparently not obtained, and speaking for the Carpenters Union, Yerry said it was not until 4 p. m. Sunday that his union was notified that the pickets would appear this morning.

Yerry stressed that his organization believed the laborers entitled to a pay increase, but issued permission to cross the picket line "in view of the circumstances" connected with the manner in which it was set up.

C. H. Mayer, business agent for Local 17, was "out on territory" this morning and could not be located for comment, a check at Local 17's Kingston office disclosed.

Today's stoppage was another in a series of labor differences that has hampered Thruway construction recently. A shortage of cement resulted from a strike by members of the United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers Union, AFL, in the Hudson Valley area for several weeks after a former contract ran out on April 30; and for several days last week trucking operations were interrupted when pickets appeared from Local 445, International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Chauffeurs, apparently to protest the lay-off of several drivers which resulted from the discontinuance by the Brewster Company of the use of its own trucks and the dependence by that contractor exclusively on independent trucking concerns.

Two Persons Hurt In Local Crashes

Two persons were injured in three city traffic mishaps over the weekend and one early today.

Anna M. Porsch, 58, of 90 Broadway suffered injuries of the forehead and chin in a car-truck collision at Broadway and McEntee streets this morning.

A police report at 3:18 a. m., said the car of John Leskie, 46, of 122 Newkirk avenue, headed north on Broadway and a trailer truck headed south were in collision.

The tractor, driven by William Doherty, of Glens Falls, was owned by William H. Warner, of Glens Falls and was hauling a trailer owned by Robert Hoag of Fort Edward.

Utility Wires Down

Wires were reported down and the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., the New York Telephone Co., and fire department were notified.

Hohenberger claimed, the report said, that a car headed south on Albany avenue, cut in front of him and forced his car into a pole.

Officer George Dougherty reported at 1:10 a. m., Sunday that a pole at East Chester street and Broadway was struck by a car operated by Louis Linardo, of White Plains, as he backed up on the side near the gasoline station.

Car Towed From Scene

The police report said Anna M. Porsch was taken to Kingston Hospital in the Schultz ambulance for treatment and Leski was also taken to the hospital, checked and discharged. The car was reported towed from the scene and the third axle of the truck was reported knocked off in the mishap. Officers Edward Edwards, William Slover, Gilbert Gray and Harold Bowers were dispatched to investigate and direct traffic.

Officers Joseph Kivlan and Everett Emmick reported at 2:27 a. m., Sunday that the car of Robert J. Uhl, of Colonial Gardens driven by Rudi J. Hohenberger, 17, of 100 TenBroeck avenue, headed north on Albany avenue struck a pole at Albany avenue and East St. James street, breaking it at its base.

Officer Crawford Millham reported at 7:15 p. m., Sunday that the car of Adrian Beadle, 50, of Boiceville, was damaged on the rear bumper and trunk when it was struck in the rear by the car of Dominick Petromale, 30, of 440 Washington avenue, as both were headed south on Washington avenue and stopping in a line of traffic. Ruth Bovee, of 198 Foxhall avenue, reported a neck injury.

Drivers Arrested On Excessive Speed Charges in City

Four drivers were arrested on charges of speeding over the weekend.

Edward Francus, 46, of 119 Linderman avenue was arrested by Officer Gurnsey Burger, Jr., on East St. James street at 5:20 p. m., Saturday. It was charged that he was driving 50 miles an hour. He forfeited $15 bail through failure to appear before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today.

Bail Is Forfeited

Burger also arrested Jack Schwartz, 51, of 1173 Grand Concourse, New York, and George Hartman, 52, of 461 Washington avenue on Broadway near Brewster street Sunday morning. Schwartz forfeited $15 and Hartman $10 bail through failure to appear in City Court.

Officers Harold Bowers and Gilbert Gray arrested Donald L. Lyons, 19, of 211 O'Neill street at 11:30 p. m., Sunday on a charge that he was speeding 60 miles an hour on Albany avenue. He is due to appear in court Tuesday morning.

Lacked Licenses

Burdette J. Hart, 17, of 338 Foxhall avenue, who was arrested by Officers Joseph Kivlan and Everett Emmick on Albany avenue at 4 a. m. Sunday on a charge that he possessed no operator's or chauffeur's license, was given a suspended sentence.

Scores Tennis Upset

Wimbledon, England, June 28 (AP)—Jaroslav Drobny, the self-exiled Czech, scored the greatest upset of the 68th Wimbledon tennis championships today when he defeated second-seeded Lewis Hoad, Australia's leading player, in straight sets to reach the semi-finals. The scores were 6-4, 6-3, 6-3. The 33-year-old Drobny, who fled his Communist homeland in 1949, now makes his home in Egypt. He was eleventh on the list of 12 seeded players for the men's singles. The elimination of Hoad made the prospects look easier for top-seeded Tony Trabert of Cincinnati. Trabert today trounced Australia's Mervyn Rose, 6-2, 6-2, 7-5.

Plane Crash Probed

March Air Force Base, Calif., June 28 (AP)—Investigation was under way into the crash of an air force refueling plane yesterday with a loss of 14 lives. The KC97 strato tanker struck Box Springs mountain while groping through overcast for a landing at Norton AFB, San Bernardino. The pilot had asked permission to land at March AFB here, 12 miles south of Norton. But because of a local overcast, the plane was directed by radio to land at Norton. Box Springs Mountain is between the two bases. After striking the mountain, the four-engine plane burst into flames. Ninety minutes later ground rescue units reached the scene and radioed that there were no survivors.

Bug Eating Birds

Before the 19th Century, farmers often thought that birds were to blame for crop damage when they were intent only in eating the bugs that were destroying the crops.

Truman 'Improves'

Kansas City, June 28 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman, was listed on a hospital report this morning as "a little improved but still in serious condition." The report said Truman spent a restful night. His gall bladder and appendix were removed eight days ago. This report was made before the 70-year-old former chief executive was examined this morning by his personal physician, Dr. Wallace A. Graham.

Knitting Record

Hancock, N. H. (AP)—After knitting and sending hundreds of sweaters to Great Britain in World War II, Mrs. Lilla Upton switched to shawl knitting in 1945. Now 82, she estimates she has knitted and given away 275 shawls — mostly to neighbors — since that time.

Regent Named

Seoul (AP)—Msgr. Thomas Quinlan, a Columban Fathers missionary who survived three years of Communist captivity, now holds the post of apostolic regent once occupied by Bishop Patrick J. Byrne who died a prisoner in North Korea after the death march of November, 1950. Msgr. Quinlan buried him.

Economic Issue

San Diego (AP)—The police blotter reported this repartee in a bar: A husband slapped his wife. She punched him. Then husband raised a beer bottle over his wife's head. She said, 'You better not hurt me. Don't forget, I'm the only one in the family that's working."

British Official To Join Aries' Reception Tuesday

Clive Eborall, first secretary of the British Embassy in Washington, is due to arrive here Tuesday to join in the local reception given for the crew of the Aries, the small motor craft, which recently crossed the Atlantic, Larry V. Bogert, chairman of the local reception committee, announced this afternoon.

Eborall is now in New York and will drive here tomorrow in time to greet the Aries which is to sail from New York to this city. He will remain with the crew until the Aries sails from here early Thursday.

Plans Completed For Arrival of Aries on Tuesday

Local plans were completed today to meet the British craft Aries, which is due to arrive here Tuesday between 4 and 5 p. m.

The converted lifeboat will sail up the Hudson from New York where it arrived last Thursday after a rough 33-day crossing of the Atlantic. It will be met by a flotilla of pleasure boats and immediately after its arrival here, its captain Cecil Harcourt-Smith will be presented with the key to the city.

The crew will be housed at local homes tomorrow night and will be officially greeted at the City Hall at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday. After the reception the crew will be taken in cars supplied by the Automobile Association to the Senate House and Museum and later will be guests at the Rotary luncheon meeting.

Will Tour County

After the Rotary meeting the crew will be taken in cars of the reception committee, headed by Larry V. Bogert, on a tour of the county's resort area. They will travel over the N. Y. State Thruway to Saugerties, from there to Woodstock and to Belleayre in the Highmount area.

They will return by the Onteora Trail (Route 28) and stop at the headworks of the Ashokan reservoir on the way back. They are scheduled to make a local television appearance at 8 p. m., following which they will be guests of Hoppey's Restaurant on Wall street for dinner.

Jack Feye, chairman of dinner arrangements, said the way has been left open for local persons to join the group at the dinner hour on a Dutch treat basis.

Return Trip Thursday

The Aries, which set out May 22 to set a record for small craft in the crossing of the North Atlantic and return, ran into storms and was forced to stop at the Azores and Bermuda. It is due to leave here on its return trip early Thursday morning.

President

reach any decisive agreement for quick action on creation of a Southeast Asian Alliance against Communist aggression. The United States has been urging a definite timetable. Britain has opposed action so long as Indochina peace negotiations are pending.

At the same time there was reason to believe Eisenhower and Churchill had agreed to press for prompt French ratification of a European Defense Community (EDC) Treaty under which West Germany would be armed.

It was also understood that they had agreed that no effort is too great which promises constructive results of lifting from the world the dangers of an atomic war.

Following the morning business meeting, Churchill was scheduled to attend a press luncheon and answer written questions posed by newsmen.

This was to be his only public appearance and provide his only public statements here aside from his participation in a communique.

Subject to Change

Officials said today's program was subject to change should the President and Prime Minister decide they needed more time.

But the program called for Churchill to say goodbye at the White House immediately before going to the press lunch, to move into the British embassy for an overnight stay and to take off for a flying visit with Canadian government officials at Ottawa Tuesday afternoon (3:30 p. m. EDT).

Sunday proved to be a working day like any other for Eisenhower, Churchill, Secretary of State Dulles and Foreign Secretary Eden as well as their staffs. There was an hour's private talk between Churchill and Dulles followed by a White House lunch meeting with atomic energy officials of both countries. In the afternoon the President and the 79-year-old Prime Minister met for a one-hour talk. Dulles and Eden with their top advisers met at Dulles home.

Last night the group dined at the White House and Dulles and Eden gave their chiefs a report on what they had been able to accomplish in their afternoon session, which included work on the communique.

She is to be sentenced August 2. Mrs. De Berto, of 3 Park avenue, Wappingers Falls could receive a maximum jail term of five years and be fined $5,000, according to Asst. U. S. Attorney Peter M. Brown.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 28 (AP) — The stock market was slightly higher in early afternoon trading today. A few stocks scored wide gains.

Trading was at a good pace. On Friday, when 2,060,000 shares changed hands, the market hit a new high since Oct. 23, 1929.

On the other hand, a weakening of prices for gasoline and fuel oil sent most petroleum shares lower. Off around a point in early afternoon were Cities Service, Amerada, Phillips, Lion Oil, Sinclair, and Seaboard Oil.

Husband Is Held After Wife Is Hospitalized

An Ardonia woman, 26, is in Vassar Hospital with severe cuts of the face and head and her husband, a 36-year-old laborer, is being held for an examination on a second degree assault charge.

State police charged that Roosevelt Williams, 36, of Ardonia, used a broken bottle in an assault upon his wife, Mamie, at Ardonia Sunday night.

Mrs. Williams was taken to the hospital, where her condition today was reported as fairly good. Williams was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Hobart Smalley of the town of Plattekill and was ordered held for examination on June 29.

Diaz Pledges

spread through the city during the day as the Communist-dominated labor unions sent their members circling through the city in jeeps, shouting "go home, Yanks." They also fired several shots.

The sentiment appeared to subside after Arbenz' broadcast last night. Later Diaz told newsmen he would protect U. S. interests.

He and other army leaders decided that Arbenz must go at an all-day meeting yesterday. Then Diaz, Lt. Col. Carlossarti, head of the national superior council of defense, and Col. Enrique Parinello communicated their decision to the President.

Arbenz was reported extremely angry but agreed to get out after the army guaranteed the safety of himself and his family.

Arbenz announced his resignation personally in a broadcast at 9 p. m. on the government radio.

He said he was stepping down "with bitter pain but with the firm conviction that the people will retain what has cost so much in this struggle of tears and blood."

"The day will come when there will be triumph for loyal Guatemalans under Col. Diaz," he declared.

Arbenz bitterly attacked the United Fruit Co., of Boston, which he has accused of backing the rebel invasion in revenge for his government's expropriation of part of the company's vast holdings in Guatemala.

He also accused "mercenary North American aviators" of bombing and sinking the 2,036-ton British-owned merchant ship Springfjord in the harbor of San Jose, Guatemala, yesterday. Officials said the ship was bombed at anchor in the Pacific port by an unidentified plane and was set afire.

Thruway Work Is

came as a surprise to other union members and may lead to some internal differences within the Ulster-Sullivan Building Trades Council, of which Local 17 is a member.

George E. Yerry, Jr., president of the Carpenters Union, said today Carpenters Union men had permission to cross the picket line, "because of the circumstances involved." As individuals, however, none of the carpenters did cross the line this morning, apparently.

Under usual procedure, no member local may set up a picket line on a construction job such as the Thruway job without having the permission of the Building Trades Council. Such permission was apparently not obtained, and speaking for the Carpenters Union, Yerry said it was not until 4 p. m. Sunday that his union was notified that the pickets would appear this morning.

Yerry stressed that his organization believed the laborers entitled to a pay increase, but issued permission to cross the picket line "in view of the circumstances" connected with the manner in which it was set up.

C. H. Mayer, business agent for Local 17, was "out on territory" this morning and could not be located for comment, a check at Local 17's Kingston office disclosed.

Today's stoppage was another in a series of labor differences that has hampered Thruway construction recently. A shortage of cement resulted from a strike by members of the United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers Union, AFL, in the Hudson Valley area for several weeks after a former contract ran out on April 30; and for several days last week trucking operations were interrupted when pickets appeared from Local 445, International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Chauffeurs, apparently to protest the lay-off of several drivers which resulted from the discontinuance by the Brewster Company of the use of its own trucks and the dependence by that contractor exclusively on independent trucking concerns.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

STEADY EDDIE!

Recently at Lindy's lox emporium, I had a cup of coffee with Ralph Slater who bills himself as "The World's Foremost Hypnotist." He was as full of yarns as a mince pie is of raisins.

Here's one of them . . .

Some years ago, Slater did a special show in New York for a convention of plumbing fixture manufacturers, and after the performance one of the delegates came around to his dressing room. He introduced himself as Eddie Burdett and said he had a problem.

His trouble was that he was knockkneed with a fear about a speech he was scheduled to make at the convention the next day. He had never done any public speaking and was certain he would fluff and fluster and make a show of himself. The occasion was an important one: The senior members of his firm would be out front, and he had been tipped off that if he handled himself well, he was in line to be elected to the board of directors.

When Slater inquired how he could be of help, Eddie asked if he couldn't be hypnotized just before the meeting, made to memorize his lines and then, through post hypnotic suggestions, directed to remain calm and speak forcefully. He was prepared to pay Slater well for his time and trouble.

Next day, shortly before speechmaking time, Slater put the young executive in a trance and said, "Eddie, I'm going to read your speech to you and you're going to remember every word. I'll sit down front, and when you get up to speak I shall snap my fingers. At this signal you will square your shoulders and deliver your talk with confidence and complete ease."

Half an hour later, according to Slater, Eddie walked up to the speakers' platform, wearing his confidence like a boutonniere and, as the saying goes, knocked 'em dead . . .

The following week the young man showed up at the hypnotist's apartment. He told him that, thanks to the speech, he had been appointed to the board of directors and was slated to make an even more important address before the New York Board of Trade. He was again worried and wanted to know what Slater would charge him for another hypnotic treatment.

The hypnotist told him that, in good conscience, he couldn't take his money, and then went on to explain that he was in no way responsible for Eddie's initial success.

"All I did last week," he told him, "was put you in sort of a daze and try to get you to believe that you had it in you to make a good speech. I tried to put you in a complete trance, but it didn't work. Some people don't respond to hypnotism and you're one of them. When you spoke as well as you did at the convention, you were strictly on your own, and I had nothing to do with your success. . . ."

"When Eddie walked out of my apartment," Slater told me, "he was grinning all over his face. His second speech was a bigger hit than the first. Today he's vice-president of his company and in great demand as a public speaker.

"Nice story," I said, "and it was a lucky thing for Eddie he was dealing with an honest hypnotist. You could have taken him for plenty by pretending you were hypnotizing him."

"You miss the point," said Slater. "When I put Eddie in a trance the first time, I hypnotized him as I've never hypnotized anybody before. His talk, if I may say so, was a triumph of post-hypnotic suggestion."

"How come then," I said, "that Eddie didn't blow up in his second speech?"

"Simple," said Slater. "He had the makings of a good speaker all along and all he needed was confidence. My little white lie about his not responding to hypnotism gave him that."

"Suppose Eddie meets another hypnotist and finds out he is susceptible," I said. "Won't he lose his self-confidence?"

"Couldn't happen in a million years," said Slater. "Eddie was a most difficult subject, and I doubt whether any practitioner would be able to put him under."

"You put him under," I said.

"Quite so," said Ralph Slater, "but you forget one thing. I am the world's foremost hypnotist."

Bremerton Is Apathetic

Bremerton, Wash. (AP)—June 25 (AP)—This navy yard city's 35,000 inhabitants gave less than enthusiastic support to what was billed as the first full-scale attempt to evacuate an entire city. Civil defense officials said only 16,200 persons were counted leaving town during the test period yesterday. The Puget Sound Naval Shipyard, which normally has some 13,000 workmen on shift, was cleared in 22 minutes, compared with a normal 45 minutes.

Health for All

IT ISN'T FUNNY

Tripping and falling flat on one's face isn't funny, even if the only hurt is to one's dignity. It is definitely un-funny when skinned knees, bruises, or even broken bones are involved.

"Accidents will happen," we sometimes say, and perhaps this bit of philosophy helps us feel better when one has happened to us. But many accidents wouldn't happen if we were less philosophical and more careful about preventing them.

So often what causes an accident is such a little thing. A little spot of wax on the floor that wasn't thoroughly rubbed—a little tear in the stair carpet—a little toy left in the dark of the upstairs hall—a little nail loose in a board on the porch—little things that should have been taken care of before they could cause trouble.

Most of us are "going to" fix the things around the house that we know are hazards. We are "going to" find a place to put the flower pots that have piled up on the cellar stairs, and we are "going to" fasten the screen in the children's room more securely, and "going to" get a covered metal basket for burning trash in the backyard, and get a non-skid pad for the rug in the front hall.

"I must have a small step-ladder in the kitchen," we say, but we go on using a precarious chair to stand on.

Today is a very good day to do these things we are "going to do." And while we're at it, why not have an electrician check that wiring we've had our doubts about? Why not put a lock on the medicine cabinet, so that the youngsters can't help themselves to the grown-ups pills? And how about a screen to fit clear across the fireplace?

Because accidents aren't funny. Bruises and burns and broken bones are not funny at all.

Investor Forum

Harry C. France

THE WILL TO SPECULATE

An investor recently decided to speculate. His decision was based on a newspaper report that two wealthy Texans had bought 800,000 shares of New York Central Railroad common stock for $20,000,000—$25 a share.

"Ah!" said the new speculator. "This is my chance to make some easy money quick!"

So, he took $2,500 of his hard-earned 2½ per cent savings and bought 100 shares of Central.

Within a month the shares had gone down to $22 and instead of a quick profit, he had a quick loss. In speculating, it is often thus. And, as I write this, he is worried about his venturesome undertaking. He wishes he had left his money in the bank.

The will to speculate is abroad in our land. People with $100 want to make $1,000 in a hurry and those with $1,000 are willing to speculate if they can make a small fortune.

I seldom get a letter from a person whose resources warrant speculation. Most of the letters are from small capitalists who are in no position to risk a dollar in chance-taking.

The Young-White battle over the control of the big New York Central system has drawn (and unwisely) hundreds of investors into the speculative arena. If the Central shares go down it will leave a bad taste in the mouths of many speculators. If the shares go up, it will give a bad perspective to those who should be conservative.

Today, to one of the unwise speculators in Central, I said: "Your 200 shares cost more than $5,000 and presently you have a paper loss of $600 which you can't afford to take. This $5,000 would have bought $7,000 of the refunding mortgaged New York Central bonds that have unfailingly paid their interest. This is the type of investment you should have bought."

The average investor simply should not cultivate the will to speculate. Risk-taking should be engaged in by those who can afford to lose. Of course, there comes a time in the economic life of many investors when they can set aside some money for risk taking.

And the time element is usually rather obvious. Maybe a young executive in his 30's or a business or professional man in his 40's can look at himself and say: "Here is some money I can put into risk situations. If I lose it, I can write the loss off my tax bill. But if the venture is successful, my wealth will be considerably increased."

What those two Texas millionaires have done is indicative of what certain readers of these lines can do.

A paper loss of three dollars a share probably won't cause either loss of sleep or lowering of living standards. My opinion is that, now that Mr. Young is in control, speculators may do well.

There are hundreds of potential New York Central capital gains situations open to speculators in America. Those who can afford to enter them should do so. Those who can't afford to lose should stay away.

The will to speculate should be cultivated only by those who can assume risk-taking to get capital gains.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

STEADY EDDIE!

Recently at Lindy's lox emporium, I had a cup of coffee with Ralph Slater who bills himself as "The World's Foremost Hypnotist." He was as full of yarns as a mince pie is of raisins.

Here's one of them . . .

Some years ago, Slater did a special show in New York for a convention of plumbing fixture manufacturers, and after the performance one of the delegates came around to his dressing room. He introduced himself as Eddie Burdett and said he had a problem.

His trouble was that he was knockkneed with a fear about a speech he was scheduled to make at the convention the next day. He had never done any public speaking and was certain he would fluff and fluster and make a show of himself. The occasion was an important one: The senior members of his firm would be out front, and he had been tipped off that if he handled himself well, he was in line to be elected to the board of directors.

When Slater inquired how he could be of help, Eddie asked if he couldn't be hypnotized just before the meeting, made to memorize his lines and then, through post hypnotic suggestions, directed to remain calm and speak forcefully. He was prepared to pay Slater well for his time and trouble.

Next day, shortly before speechmaking time, Slater put the young executive in a trance and said, "Eddie, I'm going to read your speech to you and you're going to remember every word. I'll sit down front, and when you get up to speak I shall snap my fingers. At this signal you will square your shoulders and deliver your talk with confidence and complete ease."

Half an hour later, according to Slater, Eddie walked up to the speakers' platform, wearing his confidence like a boutonniere and, as the saying goes, knocked 'em dead . . .

The following week the young man showed up at the hypnotist's apartment. He told him that, thanks to the speech, he had been appointed to the board of directors and was slated to make an even more important address before the New York Board of Trade. He was again worried and wanted to know what Slater would charge him for another hypnotic treatment.

The hypnotist told him that, in good conscience, he couldn't take his money, and then went on to explain that he was in no way responsible for Eddie's initial success.

"All I did last week," he told him, "was put you in sort of a daze and try to get you to believe that you had it in you to make a good speech. I tried to put you in a complete trance, but it didn't work. Some people don't respond to hypnotism and you're one of them. When you spoke as well as you did at the convention, you were strictly on your own, and I had nothing to do with your success. . . ."

"When Eddie walked out of my apartment," Slater told me, "he was grinning all over his face. His second speech was a bigger hit than the first. Today he's vice-president of his company and in great demand as a public speaker.

"Nice story," I said, "and it was a lucky thing for Eddie he was dealing with an honest hypnotist. You could have taken him for plenty by pretending you were hypnotizing him."

"You miss the point," said Slater. "When I put Eddie in a trance the first time, I hypnotized him as I've never hypnotized anybody before. His talk, if I may say so, was a triumph of post-hypnotic suggestion."

"How come then," I said, "that Eddie didn't blow up in his second speech?"

"Simple," said Slater. "He had the makings of a good speaker all along and all he needed was confidence. My little white lie about his not responding to hypnotism gave him that."

"Suppose Eddie meets another hypnotist and finds out he is susceptible," I said. "Won't he lose his self-confidence?"

"Couldn't happen in a million years," said Slater. "Eddie was a most difficult subject, and I doubt whether any practitioner would be able to put him under."

"You put him under," I said.

"Quite so," said Ralph Slater, "but you forget one thing. I am the world's foremost hypnotist."

Bremerton Is Apathetic

Bremerton, Wash. (AP)—June 25 (AP)—This navy yard city's 35,000 inhabitants gave less than enthusiastic support to what was billed as the first full-scale attempt to evacuate an entire city. Civil defense officials said only 16,200 persons were counted leaving town during the test period yesterday. The Puget Sound Naval Shipyard, which normally has some 13,000 workmen on shift, was cleared in 22 minutes, compared with a normal 45 minutes.

Health for All

IT ISN'T FUNNY

Tripping and falling flat on one's face isn't funny, even if the only hurt is to one's dignity. It is definitely un-funny when skinned knees, bruises, or even broken bones are involved.

"Accidents will happen," we sometimes say, and perhaps this bit of philosophy helps us feel better when one has happened to us. But many accidents wouldn't happen if we were less philosophical and more careful about preventing them.

So often what causes an accident is such a little thing. A little spot of wax on the floor that wasn't thoroughly rubbed—a little tear in the stair carpet—a little toy left in the dark of the upstairs hall—a little nail loose in a board on the porch—little things that should have been taken care of before they could cause trouble.

Most of us are "going to" fix the things around the house that we know are hazards. We are "going to" find a place to put the flower pots that have piled up on the cellar stairs, and we are "going to" fasten the screen in the children's room more securely, and "going to" get a covered metal basket for burning trash in the backyard, and get a non-skid pad for the rug in the front hall.

"I must have a small step-ladder in the kitchen," we say, but we go on using a precarious chair to stand on.

Today is a very good day to do these things we are "going to do." And while we're at it, why not have an electrician check that wiring we've had our doubts about? Why not put a lock on the medicine cabinet, so that the youngsters can't help themselves to the grown-ups pills? And how about a screen to fit clear across the fireplace?

Because accidents aren't funny. Bruises and burns and broken bones are not funny at all.

Investor Forum

Harry C. France

THE WILL TO SPECULATE

An investor recently decided to speculate. His decision was based on a newspaper report that two wealthy Texans had bought 800,000 shares of New York Central Railroad common stock for $20,000,000—$25 a share.

"Ah!" said the new speculator. "This is my chance to make some easy money quick!"

So, he took $2,500 of his hard-earned 2½ per cent savings and bought 100 shares of Central.

Within a month the shares had gone down to $22 and instead of a quick profit, he had a quick loss. In speculating, it is often thus. And, as I write this, he is worried about his venturesome undertaking. He wishes he had left his money in the bank.

The will to speculate is abroad in our land. People with $100 want to make $1,000 in a hurry and those with $1,000 are willing to speculate if they can make a small fortune.

I seldom get a letter from a person whose resources warrant speculation. Most of the letters are from small capitalists who are in no position to risk a dollar in chance-taking.

The Young-White battle over the control of the big New York Central system has drawn (and unwisely) hundreds of investors into the speculative arena. If the Central shares go down it will leave a bad taste in the mouths of many speculators. If the shares go up, it will give a bad perspective to those who should be conservative.

Today, to one of the unwise speculators in Central, I said: "Your 200 shares cost more than $5,000 and presently you have a paper loss of $600 which you can't afford to take. This $5,000 would have bought $7,000 of the refunding mortgaged New York Central bonds that have unfailingly paid their interest. This is the type of investment you should have bought."

The average investor simply should not cultivate the will to speculate. Risk-taking should be engaged in by those who can afford to lose. Of course, there comes a time in the economic life of many investors when they can set aside some money for risk taking.

And the time element is usually rather obvious. Maybe a young executive in his 30's or a business or professional man in his 40's can look at himself and say: "Here is some money I can put into risk situations. If I lose it, I can write the loss off my tax bill. But if the venture is successful, my wealth will be considerably increased."

What those two Texas millionaires have done is indicative of what certain readers of these lines can do.

A paper loss of three dollars a share probably won't cause either loss of sleep or lowering of living standards. My opinion is that, now that Mr. Young is in control, speculators may do well.

There are hundreds of potential New York Central capital gains situations open to speculators in America. Those who can afford to enter them should do so. Those who can't afford to lose should stay away.

The will to speculate should be cultivated only by those who can assume risk-taking to get capital gains.

G.I. BILL

Ten years ago the late Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the legislation that has come to be known as the "G.I. Bill of Rights." Under terms of that bill veterans were granted the right to further their education in colleges or in training schools. From time to time there have been abuses of the privileges but the great majority of veterans who took advantages of the opportunities offered justified the faith of those who proposed the bill.

The Veterans Administration recently released figures which show that veterans who studied and trained under the G.I. Bill have raised their income level to the point where they pay an extra billion dollars a year in income tax. At this rate the total expenditure for the education and training program, some 15 billion dollars, will be recovered in fifteen years.

This of course is but one of the advantages which resulted from the program which was designed to help veterans readjust to civilian life. A nation which raises the educational level of a large portion of its citizenry helps everyone. We have more doctors, lawyers, engineers, and skilled workers because of the G.I. Bill.

The G.I. Bill was an experiment that worked. It has served the purpose of helping veterans in the wisest possible way—by giving them the chance to learn how to help themselves.

THAT BUYER'S MARKET

An organization of sales executives recently met in Chicago to discuss current marketing problems. A typical panel discussion was entitled, "How to Increase Retail Sales in a Buyer's Market."

This has a great significance to the consumer as well as to the people who have goods to sell. For it reflects a remarkable change that has taken place in a few years. When World War II ended, there were severe shortages of goods of all kinds, today there is an abundance of practically everything and in some fields supply is heavily in excess of the demand.

Such a change could only occur in an economy based solidly on the free, competitive market. Manufacturers and retailers have never worked harder to please the consumer with better products, more varied products, lower prices, improved service and guarantees, and all the other inducements that people look for. And the result is that the average man's paycheck is going farther and the dollar has taken on a healthier complexion.

We are the best fed, best clothed, best housed people on earth. We have more goods and services of every kind—and we regard as virtual necessities commodities which are the luxuries of the wealthy in most other countries. Thank competition on the producing and distributing levels for that.

NEW PREMIER

Premier Pierre Mendes-France came into office with the greatest majority accorded any French Premier since the end of World War II. He is committed to the proposition of ending the war in Indo-China in twenty days or handing in his resignation. To this end he has decided to act as his own Foreign Minister at Geneva.

The majority given the new Premier is an indication of just how eager the French are for peace. The war in Indo-China has been costly in lives and in money and the setbacks there have resulted in nothing but humiliation for France. It is understandable that the French should want to see peace in that troublesome part of the world.

The free world hopes that the French Premier can accomplish his self-set goal of peace in such a short time, if that peace can be gained without sacrificing the honor of France and the security of all Southeast Asia. It is extremely difficult, however, to see how the Communists will accept any peace in Indo-China short of a French surrender.

The days immediately ahead will determine whether or not Mendes-France will succeed or whether he will be just one more in a long list of Frenchmen who have tried to establish a stable French government only to fail miserably. The world will be watching to see what happens.

Outdoor grills, charcoal and aromas of sizzling food are more popular this year than ever before. It's amazing how little it takes to cut most bugs, flies and mosquitoes down to size.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

A QUESTION OF ETHICS

In a free society, government is an instrument of the people to perform such tasks as they choose to do in common. Under our Constitution, the Federal Government is permitted to perform limited duties, but all rights are stipulated as belonging to the States and the people thereof. The Federal Government may not lawfully expand its authority or the tasks which it is designated to undertake. A constitutional amendment may increase the Federal responsibility, but such an amendment can only be passed by the consent of the States.

In a word, the American Constitution recognizes the peril to the people in a tautly centralized government. While the term, police state, was unknown to the Founding Fathers, the concept was clear to them and is duly described in the Declaration of Independence in the following clauses in which is stated the attitude of George III to the rights of the people in the American Colonies:

"He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

"He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

"He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance. . . .

"He has affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power."

In the recent McCarthy-Stevens hearings the ethical question of monitored telephone calls arose. It was admitted that such telephone calls were illegal and it took the Committee weeks to have these calls admitted in evidence by consent of the parties concerned. The morals of the issue are more important than the legalities. The assumption must be that an American citizen is free to address an official of his government without fear or damage. The Right of Petition is stipulated in the First Amendment to the Constitution, and while this right relates to "a redress of grievances," the nature of the grievances is not stated.

The telephone had not been invented when the Constitution was signed and correspondence was written by quill pens. With the widespread use of the telephone, citizens may speak to their officials by means of this instrument. Along with the telephone have come a number of devices for placing an unknown, unannounced witness to a conversation, in which instance only one of the parties is cognizant of the presence of the witness. It is also possible to tap the telephone wires by mechanical devices, in which instance neither of the parties to the conversation may know that a witness is present. It is also possible to record a telephone conversation for permanent reference. This is illegal unless a beep is provided which is sounded at regular intervals so that both parties may know that they are being monitored. No distinction can be made in ethics or in law between the use of a mechanical device or a human being to monitor telephone calls.

What such a recording means is that the casual word, spoken without caution, may be recalled months or years later when the party who did not monitor the call may not remember that it ever took place. Now that the hearings are over, I can cite this example: John Adams, counsel to the Secretary of the Army, who did not monitor his calls to me, says that he spoke to me on February 5, 12, and 16. I only recall that he telephoned to me on February 16 but must assume that he made the other calls because he said so. But his memory is apparently as poor as mine because what he said he spoke to me about on February 5, he actually spoke about on February 16. Had that call been monitored, the last minute of it would have made us both appear to be ridiculous because the language was not the very best, both of us ending on a bantering note.

As long as government officials insist upon committing an illegal act, citizens will be justified in refusing to talk to them by telephone. I certainly shall avoid such risk in the future. In the police state, the monitored telephone is a normal instrument for the control of the people by their officials. The procedure should be forbidden by Act of Congress.

GRIEF AND DEPRESSION

When a patient has been under mental treatment for many months or even years, suffering great depression of spirits and uncontrollable grief, and fails to respond to any treatment, it is only natural to try to give the patient relief, even if it means surgical operation. Thus, a few years ago, two nerve surgeons, Drs. Freeman and Watts, operated on the nerve or nerves supplying those important structures in the brain which control these emotions.

All that was expected from the operation, which was a great success, was relief from these symptoms but, unfortunately, in many cases the patients became childish or irresponsible although some improved and made complete recoveries. Of course, this was not done until all other methods of treatment had failed. This operation is called transorbital lobotomy.

Recently, in Neurology, Dr. W. W. Wilson reports on 400 patients in state hospitals who had this operation. It is important to realize that every single one of these patients had been considered hopeless and had failed to respond to all other types of treatment, including insulin and electroshock. The average duration of illness of the group was almost 11 years and most of them had previously been confined to small seclusion rooms (solitary confinement) for years. This gives us an idea of just how bad these cases were considered.

The operation is quite simple and well suited for use in a large state hospital. The operations are performed on the wards and a team of nurses and attendants can easily be trained in the course of two to four operations. Four operations take but 15 minutes.

What were the results of this transorbital lobotomy operation? The death rate was very low, just 8 deaths in 400 patients. There were very few after-effects of operation, some being unable to control their urine for a few days and two or three cases of a very slight paralysis which also passed off. The really amazing result was that in one-half of the cases, there was what was considered marked improvement while another 25 per cent showed some improvement.

When we remember that this group of chronically disturbed patients were all considered hopeless and had resisted all other forms of treatment, it is quite clear that this type of treatment is very well worth trying.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington, (NEA) — That phase of the Eisenhower-Churchill, Dulles-Eden conversations which deals with Southeast Asia might be called "Operation Salvage." How much can be saved from the wreckage of the Geneva conference, no one can now predict because of the fall of the Laniel government in France and the totally different program put forward by new Premier Mendes-France.

If the Geneva conference did nothing else, it may have at long last convinced the British—and possibly even the Indians—that there is need for united action in Southeast Asia.

The British didn't want to talk about that in April when Secretary of State John Foster Dulles first approached then on it. They wanted to wait and see if something could not be accomplished at Geneva. He foresaw that Geneva could not succeed. Now THEY see it.

The British may now be fully awake to the need for salvaging Malaya. It is their biggest dollar earner.

But what can be done now is far less than could have been done four months ago. The possibility of organizing a first line of defense based on Laos, Cambodia and Thailand is doubtful. What can be salvaged through United Nations action in this area is unknown. How willing the new French government will be to carry on the fighting in Viet Nam is the most uncertain of all. So what the world faces now is a fresh start.

The full story of past efforts to get united action in Indo-China is just now beginning to come out.

It was realized at the beginning that any French government which openly advocated American intervention in the war would have been defeated. France therefore never formally asked the U. S. to join the war as a full partner.

What the French apparently wanted was an option on U. S. aid, to use as a threat and a bargaining point with the Communists. But it is doubtful if the Russians and Red Chinese were ever fooled by this strategy. For the Communist leaders must have known that if the Indo-China war were internationalized, France would never be able to end it on her own terms.

Gen. Paul Ely, present French commander-in-chief in Indochina, did want the United States to furnish ships and planes for a one-shot air strike to save Dien Bien Phu. This was in April when General Ely was French chief of staff. His idea was that American planes could be disguised for this cloak-and-dagger operation.

President Eisenhower, while never entertaining any idea for a hit-and-run operation such as General Ely proposed to save Dien Bien Phu, was apparently ready at one period to make the United States a full partner in the Indochina war, if France, Britain, Australia and New Zealand joined the action.

At the end of March there was a strong feeling on the part of congressional leaders that if the President had asked for approval of making the U. S. a full partner in the war, Congress would have granted it—provided the other allies went along. There would have been no enthusiasm, of course, for having the United States forces going in alone to try to save Malaya.

Yet the amount of support which U. S. military leaders wanted from the forces of other countries was small. The support wanted from the British was largely moral approval. The support wanted from Australia and New Zealand was largely token air strength to make it look like united action.

The British response was not only negative on its own part, British influence was also brought to bear on Australia and New Zealand to keep them out of the united action plan. Also, the French government never gave any indications it wanted any help from Australia and New Zealand.

Five conditions—not yet made public—were given to the French as the price for American aid as a full partner in the Indochina war. They were never replied to.

And so the situation went from bad to worse. Whether anything can be salvaged out of the situation at this late date is most unlikely.

Soviet Russia Has Defied Monroe Doctrine by Setting Up Guatemalan Base

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 28—The Soviet Union has taken the dangerous step of setting up a base in Guatemala from which it would be possible for her to carry on airplane attacks of a sniping nature against the United States as well as the Panama canal through the medium of a Communist-controlled government. It could mean in wartime an important diversion of American air strength for a defensive task, thus weakening our offensive power.

Defying the Monroe Doctrine, which for more than 130 years has warned European governments against attempting to set up any new colonies or controls of territory in the western hemisphere, Soviet Russia has converted Guatemala into an operating headquarters from which to direct all her subversive efforts in Central and South America.

The revolution—recently begun by patriots in Guatemala who see in the Communist maneuver a menace to the future independence of the Republic—is a significant development in a chain of events which ultimately may produce for the United States its biggest crisis since the close of World War 2.

When the imperial government of Germany was caught in the act of attempting to set up a base in Mexico in 1917 — revealed through the interception of the famous note to Herr Zimmerman, the German minister in Mexico City—the end result was an aroused public opinion, and within a few weeks America had entered World War 1 on the side of the allies.

Today the official evidence, while of a different character, is none the less conclusive. It can be summarized as follows:

1. The United States government has long been satisfied, through a well-documented series of circumstances, that the international Communist organization has been developing Guatemala as its primary base in the western hemisphere for subversion and for the undermining of various governments. The pattern of overt and covert activity has already been used for penetrating nearby areas.

2. The Guatemalan government, under Communist guidance, has been responsible for well-organized strikes which have paralyzed Honduras and nearly caused the fall of the government there.

3. The names of the individuals who are the primary operators in the conspiracy are well known to the Washington government, and there is a record of an exceptionally heavy flow of Guatemalan leaders and semi-overt agents who have been traveling between Guatemala and Moscow and certain other capitals of Iron Curtain countries, particularly Prague, which now has become the main center for the infiltration of Latin-American countries.

4. There is also a familiar pattern of movements of individual members of the conspiracy who travel between Guatemala and Mexico City, where embassies and legations of the Communist satellite countries can use their speedy means of communication to the Communist strategists overseas.

5. There is an international labor circuit operating through the Communist leader, Vincente Lombardo Toledano, who is based in Mexico City and pulls the strings for the strikes and propaganda demonstrations throughout Latin America. Copies of the instructions he has sent out are in the hands of the United States government. On the eve of the Caracas conference, the so-called "Guatemalan Friendship Societies" were organized in various Latin-American countries. These were Communist inspired.

6. Protest meetings against alleged instigation by the United States of a revolution in Guatemala have been set up by Communist mechanisms and, of course, the propaganda has been aided by certain press correspondents who have been duped into believing the United States initiated the Guatemalan revolt. Actually Guatemalans in exile in Central America needed no inspiration to try to regain independence for their homeland.

7. Radio Moscow has been transmitting to Latin America copies of propaganda statements allegedly issued in Latin-American countries but somebody blundered, because the local Communist organizations had not yet issued them when the broadcasts were released over the Moscow or Prague radio.

There is no doubt about the synchronized behavior of the Moscow government and the Guatemalan government, especially in the field of diplomacy. Foreign Minister Molotov has been on the job in the security council of the UN to respond promptly to the requests of the Guatemalan government for moves designed to smear the United States.

Meanwhile, the civil war inside Guatemala looks like a long-drawnout affair unless the Guatemalan army officers now on the side of the incumbent government soon see the handwriting on the wall and start driving the Communists out. The Moscow radio is already using some cynically written dispatches in metropolitan American newspapers to bolster the charge of American interference in Guatemala. Editorials from Latin-American newspapers which have been misled into placing the blame on the United States are also being exploited prominently by the Moscow radio.

So far as the American people are concerned, it is important for them to know that the infiltration of Guatemala by the Communists is not a minor matter. The Soviet Union has really put its first team into action in that country and is engaged in a crucial fight to combat the influence which the United States has exerted in the western hemisphere countries against Communist imperialism. The U. S. Senate, by a virtually unanimous vote, has just condemned the action by Soviet Russia. This is an indication that the Guatemalan trouble will not become a partisan affair inside Congress.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, June 27 — I don't like to pick on the New York Times but, if I seem to, the reason must be that from my earliest days in this profession, I looked up to this paper as one of the greatest of all the English speaking world. (I later came to know something of La Nacion, of Buenos Aires, which has been 24-sheeted as a monument of integrity and so forth. But the better I knew La Nacion the less I agreed with this opinion.) However, until Arthur Hays Sulzberger came along as publisher of the Times after the death of old man Ochs, his father-in-law, whom I knew on the nod when I wrote sports in the Chicago Tribune Bureau in the Times plant, my opinion of the New York Times was exalted. I even had a secret misgiving that I was not up to the Times standard of skill.

I may now say without immodesty that this was unjustified because any careful reporter who could write grammatical English could get by on the Times. I had those qualifications but I never did have any appetite for a job there because the paper was stuffy. Later it went in for bylines and features and the effect might have been good except that Sulzberger seemed to try to make a "personal" paper of an institution which had been as impersonal as the Museum of Natural History, and should have continued to be.

I believe Mr. Sulzberger will confess that he is a Democrat if so charged. And, though I have often said that some of my best friends are Democrats I hold that they are out of season when my party, which is the Republican party, holds the White House.

But what do I find?

I find Sulzberger and other high-octane Democrats drawing up chairs for dinner with the President who was elected by my party, and it makes me pretty darn sore, not at them, but at Ike. It is not that I want to engage in free-loading at the White House. I am not impressed by majesty or office. The only time I ever had a meal in the White House I was shanghaied by a determined woman who got her secretary to pin me down for Wednesday after I had told her I was dated up for lunch both Monday and Tuesday. Not only was the food awful but the conversation was stilted with everybody kowtowing to the determined woman and her even more determined mother-in-law and my hostess blandly told me that most of the other guests among a company of about 20 were total strangers in whom she had not the slightest interest. Neither had I. She had to have them in for this meal because they were friends of this or that politician, but that was her cross to bear and I didn't see why she had to take it out on me.

Chesly Manly, who covers the United Nations for the Chicago Tribune and rolls his own political opinions and principles, has given Mr. Sulzberger and his Times a robust going-over in this month's Mercury. I not only agree with Manly, who is, according to my standards, one of the best journalists in the world, but I took a bite out of his apple quite a long time ago. I refer to his observation that Sulzberger is scared and that "no hag-ridden liberal is hysterical about hysteria or more tormented by the fear of fear."

Now that is true. And whether or not Sulzberger has enough influence to account for the phenomenon, I have observed that a lot of unimportant professors get space next to pure reading matter whenever they get the shakes in some commencement or convention and tell us that Joe McCarthy is putting them in fear of some nameless harm for expressing their political opinions. That is just nonsense. But I can go back over the record of the Roosevelt-Truman reign and prove that a great many Americans were terribly abused for criticizing that regime. I will go so far as to say that I was one of them. They woolled me and bulled me, on my income tax, while men with greater income who kept their traps shut were quietly ignored year after year.

I now know about a Roosevelt-Truman sycophant who failed to come up with his dues and is trying to wangle a "settlement," which means that he wants to pay from 25 to 75 cents on the dollar whereas you and I have to pay 100 cents plus compound interest at six per cent. I have warned the collector that I am looking over his shoulder and will publish the facts in the public interest, if he lets this chiseler off.

One of the dirty bums on the New Deal crew got up at a public meeting and said the only way to stop Pegler's criticism of Roosevelt was to get him through the income tax. Now Harold Ickes shamelessly admits in his diaries that they used to send for tax returns to learn about the

Ten years ago the late Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the legislation that has come to be known as the "G.I. Bill of Rights." Under terms of that bill veterans were granted the right to further their education in colleges or in training schools. From time to time there have been abuses of the privileges but the great majority of veterans who took advantages of the opportunities offered justified the faith of those who proposed the bill.

The Veterans Administration recently released figures which show that veterans who studied and trained under the G.I. Bill have raised their income level to the point where they pay an extra billion dollars a year in income tax. At this rate the total expenditure for the education and training program, some 15 billion dollars, will be recovered in fifteen years.

This of course is but one of the advantages which resulted from the program which was designed to help veterans readjust to civilian life. A nation which raises the educational level of a large portion of its citizenry helps everyone. We have more doctors, lawyers, engineers, and skilled workers because of the G.I. Bill.

The G.I. Bill was an experiment that worked. It has served the purpose of helping veterans in the wisest possible way—by giving them the chance to learn how to help themselves.

THAT BUYER'S MARKET

An organization of sales executives recently met in Chicago to discuss current marketing problems. A typical panel discussion was entitled, "How to Increase Retail Sales in a Buyer's Market."

This has a great significance to the consumer as well as to the people who have goods to sell. For it reflects a remarkable change that has taken place in a few years. When World War II ended, there were severe shortages of goods of all kinds, today there is an abundance of practically everything and in some fields supply is heavily in excess of the demand.

Such a change could only occur in an economy based solidly on the free, competitive market. Manufacturers and retailers have never worked harder to please the consumer with better products, more varied products, lower prices, improved service and guarantees, and all the other inducements that people look for. And the result is that the average man's paycheck is going farther and the dollar has taken on a healthier complexion.

We are the best fed, best clothed, best housed people on earth. We have more goods and services of every kind—and we regard as virtual necessities commodities which are the luxuries of the wealthy in most other countries. Thank competition on the producing and distributing levels for that.

NEW PREMIER

Premier Pierre Mendes-France came into office with the greatest majority accorded any French Premier since the end of World War II. He is committed to the proposition of ending the war in Indo-China in twenty days or handing in his resignation. To this end he has decided to act as his own Foreign Minister at Geneva.

The majority given the new Premier is an indication of just how eager the French are for peace. The war in Indo-China has been costly in lives and in money and the setbacks there have resulted in nothing but humiliation for France. It is understandable that the French should want to see peace in that troublesome part of the world.

The free world hopes that the French Premier can accomplish his self-set goal of peace in such a short time, if that peace can be gained without sacrificing the honor of France and the security of all Southeast Asia. It is extremely difficult, however, to see how the Communists will accept any peace in Indo-China short of a French surrender.

The days immediately ahead will determine whether or not Mendes-France will succeed or whether he will be just one more in a long list of Frenchmen who have tried to establish a stable French government only to fail miserably. The world will be watching to see what happens.

Outdoor grills, charcoal and aromas of sizzling food are more popular this year than ever before. It's amazing how little it takes to cut most bugs, flies and mosquitoes down to size.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

A QUESTION OF ETHICS

In a free society, government is an instrument of the people to perform such tasks as they choose to do in common. Under our Constitution, the Federal Government is permitted to perform limited duties, but all rights are stipulated as belonging to the States and the people thereof. The Federal Government may not lawfully expand its authority or the tasks which it is designated to undertake. A constitutional amendment may increase the Federal responsibility, but such an amendment can only be passed by the consent of the States.

In a word, the American Constitution recognizes the peril to the people in a tautly centralized government. While the term, police state, was unknown to the Founding Fathers, the concept was clear to them and is duly described in the Declaration of Independence in the following clauses in which is stated the attitude of George III to the rights of the people in the American Colonies:

"He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

"He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

"He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance. . . .

"He has affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power."

In the recent McCarthy-Stevens hearings the ethical question of monitored telephone calls arose. It was admitted that such telephone calls were illegal and it took the Committee weeks to have these calls admitted in evidence by consent of the parties concerned. The morals of the issue are more important than the legalities. The assumption must be that an American citizen is free to address an official of his government without fear or damage. The Right of Petition is stipulated in the First Amendment to the Constitution, and while this right relates to "a redress of grievances," the nature of the grievances is not stated.

The telephone had not been invented when the Constitution was signed and correspondence was written by quill pens. With the widespread use of the telephone, citizens may speak to their officials by means of this instrument. Along with the telephone have come a number of devices for placing an unknown, unannounced witness to a conversation, in which instance only one of the parties is cognizant of the presence of the witness. It is also possible to tap the telephone wires by mechanical devices, in which instance neither of the parties to the conversation may know that a witness is present. It is also possible to record a telephone conversation for permanent reference. This is illegal unless a beep is provided which is sounded at regular intervals so that both parties may know that they are being monitored. No distinction can be made in ethics or in law between the use of a mechanical device or a human being to monitor telephone calls.

What such a recording means is that the casual word, spoken without caution, may be recalled months or years later when the party who did not monitor the call may not remember that it ever took place. Now that the hearings are over, I can cite this example: John Adams, counsel to the Secretary of the Army, who did not monitor his calls to me, says that he spoke to me on February 5, 12, and 16. I only recall that he telephoned to me on February 16 but must assume that he made the other calls because he said so. But his memory is apparently as poor as mine because what he said he spoke to me about on February 5, he actually spoke about on February 16. Had that call been monitored, the last minute of it would have made us both appear to be ridiculous because the language was not the very best, both of us ending on a bantering note.

As long as government officials insist upon committing an illegal act, citizens will be justified in refusing to talk to them by telephone. I certainly shall avoid such risk in the future. In the police state, the monitored telephone is a normal instrument for the control of the people by their officials. The procedure should be forbidden by Act of Congress.

So what the world faces now is a fresh start.

The full story of past efforts to get united action in Indo-China is just now beginning to come out.

It was realized at the beginning that any French government which openly advocated American intervention in the war would have been defeated. France therefore never formally asked the U. S. to join the war as a full partner.

What the French apparently wanted was an option on U. S. aid, to use as a threat and a bargaining point with the Communists. But it is doubtful if the Russians and Red Chinese were ever fooled by this strategy. For the Communist leaders must have known that if the Indo-China war were internationalized, France would never be able to end it on her own terms.

Gen. Paul Ely, present French commander-in-chief in Indochina, did want the United States to furnish ships and planes for a one-shot air strike to save Dien Bien Phu. This was in April when General Ely was French chief of staff. His idea was that American planes could be disguised for this cloak-and-dagger operation.

President Eisenhower, while never entertaining any idea for a hit-and-run operation such as General Ely proposed to save Dien Bien Phu, was apparently ready at one period to make the United States a full partner in the Indochina war, if France, Britain, Australia and New Zealand joined the action.

At the end of March there was a strong feeling on the part of congressional leaders that if the President had asked for approval of making the U. S. a full partner in the war, Congress would have granted it—provided the other allies went along. There would have been no enthusiasm, of course, for having the United States forces going in alone to try to save Malaya.

Yet the amount of support which U. S. military leaders wanted from the forces of other countries was small. The support wanted from the British was largely moral approval. The support wanted from Australia and New Zealand was largely token air strength to make it look like united action.

The British response was not only negative on its own part, British influence was also brought to bear on Australia and New Zealand to keep them out of the united action plan. Also, the French government never gave any indications it wanted any help from Australia and New Zealand.

Five conditions—not yet made public—were given to the French as the price for American aid as a full partner in the Indochina war. They were never replied to.

And so the situation went from bad to worse. Whether anything can be salvaged out of the situation at this late date is most unlikely.

BURNING DOWN A HOUSE REMEDY FOR ALL AILMENTS

Setting fire to a house is the only remedy the Sarodis of Yeotmal, India, may prescribe. They are wandering soothsayers and doctors greatly revered by the natives. Sick and troubled people search them out and ask them for advice. No matter what the ailment they always prescribe as a cure that you set fire to a house — either your own or somebody else's, and warn you that under no circumstance must an alarm be given.

Soviet Russia Has Defied Monroe Doctrine by Setting Up Guatemalan Base

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 28—The Soviet Union has taken the dangerous step of setting up a base in Guatemala from which it would be possible for her to carry on airplane attacks of a sniping nature against the United States as well as the Panama canal through the medium of a Communist-controlled government. It could mean in wartime an important diversion of American air strength for a defensive task, thus weakening our offensive power.

Defying the Monroe Doctrine, which for more than 130 years has warned European governments against attempting to set up any new colonies or controls of territory in the western hemisphere, Soviet Russia has converted Guatemala into an operating headquarters from which to direct all her subversive efforts in Central and South America.

The revolution—recently begun by patriots in Guatemala who see in the Communist maneuver a menace to the future independence of the Republic—is a significant development in a chain of events which ultimately may produce for the United States its biggest crisis since the close of World War 2.

When the imperial government of Germany was caught in the act of attempting to set up a base in Mexico in 1917 — revealed through the interception of the famous note to Herr Zimmerman, the German minister in Mexico City—the end result was an aroused public opinion, and within a few weeks America had entered World War 1 on the side of the allies.

Today the official evidence, while of a different character, is none the less conclusive. It can be summarized as follows:

1. The United States government has long been satisfied, through a well-documented series of circumstances, that the international Communist organization has been developing Guatemala as its primary base in the western hemisphere for subversion and for the undermining of various governments. The pattern of overt and covert activity has already been used for penetrating nearby areas.

2. The Guatemalan government, under Communist guidance, has been responsible for well-organized strikes which have paralyzed Honduras and nearly caused the fall of the government there.

3. The names of the individuals who are the primary operators in the conspiracy are well known to the Washington government, and there is a record of an exceptionally heavy flow of Guatemalan leaders and semi-overt agents who have been traveling between Guatemala and Moscow and certain other capitals of Iron Curtain countries, particularly Prague, which now has become the main center for the infiltration of Latin-American countries.

4. There is also a familiar pattern of movements of individual members of the conspiracy who travel between Guatemala and Mexico City, where embassies and legations of the Communist satellite countries can use their speedy means of communication to the Communist strategists overseas.

5. There is an international labor circuit operating through the Communist leader, Vincente Lombardo Toledano, who is based in Mexico City and pulls the strings for the strikes and propaganda demonstrations throughout Latin America. Copies of the instructions he has sent out are in the hands of the United States government. On the eve of the Caracas conference, the so-called "Guatemalan Friendship Societies" were organized in various Latin-American countries. These were Communist inspired.

6. Protest meetings against alleged instigation by the United States of a revolution in Guatemala have been set up by Communist mechanisms and, of course, the propaganda has been aided by certain press correspondents who have been duped into believing the United States initiated the Guatemalan revolt. Actually Guatemalans in exile in Central America needed no inspiration to try to regain independence for their homeland.

7. Radio Moscow has been transmitting to Latin America copies of propaganda statements allegedly issued in Latin-American countries but somebody blundered, because the local Communist organizations had not yet issued them when the broadcasts were released over the Moscow or Prague radio.

There is no doubt about the synchronized behavior of the Moscow government and the Guatemalan government, especially in the field of diplomacy. Foreign Minister Molotov has been on the job in the security council of the UN to respond promptly to the requests of the Guatemalan government for moves designed to smear the United States.

Meanwhile, the civil war inside Guatemala looks like a long-drawnout affair unless the Guatemalan army officers now on the side of the incumbent government soon see the handwriting on the wall and start driving the Communists out. The Moscow radio is already using some cynically written dispatches in metropolitan American newspapers to bolster the charge of American interference in Guatemala. Editorials from Latin-American newspapers which have been misled into placing the blame on the United States are also being exploited prominently by the Moscow radio.

So far as the American people are concerned, it is important for them to know that the infiltration of Guatemala by the Communists is not a minor matter. The Soviet Union has really put its first team into action in that country and is engaged in a crucial fight to combat the influence which the United States has exerted in the western hemisphere countries against Communist imperialism. The U. S. Senate, by a virtually unanimous vote, has just condemned the action by Soviet Russia. This is an indication that the Guatemalan trouble will not become a partisan affair inside Congress.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, June 27 — I don't like to pick on the New York Times but, if I seem to, the reason must be that from my earliest days in this profession, I looked up to this paper as one of the greatest of all the English speaking world. (I later came to know something of La Nacion, of Buenos Aires, which has been 24-sheeted as a monument of integrity and so forth. But the better I knew La Nacion the less I agreed with this opinion.) However, until Arthur Hays Sulzberger came along as publisher of the Times after the death of old man Ochs, his father-in-law, whom I knew on the nod when I wrote sports in the Chicago Tribune Bureau in the Times plant, my opinion of the New York Times was exalted. I even had a secret misgiving that I was not up to the Times standard of skill.

I may now say without immodesty that this was unjustified because any careful reporter who could write grammatical English could get by on the Times. I had those qualifications but I never did have any appetite for a job there because the paper was stuffy. Later it went in for bylines and features and the effect might have been good except that Sulzberger seemed to try to make a "personal" paper of an institution which had been as impersonal as the Museum of Natural History, and should have continued to be.

I believe Mr. Sulzberger will confess that he is a Democrat if so charged. And, though I have often said that some of my best friends are Democrats I hold that they are out of season when my party, which is the Republican party, holds the White House.

But what do I find?

I find Sulzberger and other high-octane Democrats drawing up chairs for dinner with the President who was elected by my party, and it makes me pretty darn sore, not at them, but at Ike. It is not that I want to engage in free-loading at the White House. I am not impressed by majesty or office. The only time I ever had a meal in the White House I was shanghaied by a determined woman who got her secretary to pin me down for Wednesday after I had told her I was dated up for lunch both Monday and Tuesday. Not only was the food awful but the conversation was stilted with everybody kowtowing to the determined woman and her even more determined mother-in-law and my hostess blandly told me that most of the other guests among a company of about 20 were total strangers in whom she had not the slightest interest. Neither had I. She had to have them in for this meal because they were friends of this or that politician, but that was her cross to bear and I didn't see why she had to take it out on me.

Chesly Manly, who covers the United Nations for the Chicago Tribune and rolls his own political opinions and principles, has given Mr. Sulzberger and his Times a robust going-over in this month's Mercury. I not only agree with Manly, who is, according to my standards, one of the best journalists in the world, but I took a bite out of his apple quite a long time ago. I refer to his observation that Sulzberger is scared and that "no hag-ridden liberal is hysterical about hysteria or more tormented by the fear of fear."

Now that is true. And whether or not Sulzberger has enough influence to account for the phenomenon, I have observed that a lot of unimportant professors get space next to pure reading matter whenever they get the shakes in some commencement or convention and tell us that Joe McCarthy is putting them in fear of some nameless harm for expressing their political opinions. That is just nonsense. But I can go back over the record of the Roosevelt-Truman reign and prove that a great many Americans were terribly abused for criticizing that regime. I will go so far as to say that I was one of them. They woolled me and bulled me, on my income tax, while men with greater income who kept their traps shut were quietly ignored year after year.

I now know about a Roosevelt-Truman sycophant who failed to come up with his dues and is trying to wangle a "settlement," which means that he wants to pay from 25 to 75 cents on the dollar whereas you and I have to pay 100 cents plus compound interest at six per cent. I have warned the collector that I am looking over his shoulder and will publish the facts in the public interest, if he lets this chiseler off.

One of the dirty bums on the New Deal crew got up at a public meeting and said the only way to stop Pegler's criticism of Roosevelt was to get him through the income tax. Now Harold Ickes shamelessly admits in his diaries that they used to send for tax returns to learn about the

11 Persons Hurt In Bus Accident

New York, June 28 (AP)—A city-owned bus crashed into a concrete abutment in the east Bronx early today, injuring 11 persons, two seriously.

The driver said he swerved at 177th street near Havemeyer ave. to avoid hitting an automobile which had cut him off. The bus struck the abutment at 2:45 a. m.

The driver, James Wilson, 40, of 742 St. Nicholas ave., was trapped behind the wheel. A passenger, Alexander Findley, 49, of 1576 Unionport Road, the Bronx, was also pinned by the impact.

After they were freed by police, Wilson and Findley were taken to Fordham hospital, where their conditions were reported as serious.

Findley' right foot was amputated. The hospital said the driver had suffered a compound fracture of the right leg.

The transit authority bus, which was considerably damaged had been on its way to West Farms from Queens.

Blind Veteran Rescues Three

Lucedale, Miss., June 28 (AP)—A blind Korean War veteran rescued three companions from drowning last night in the Pascagoula river.

Danger was old hat to Charles Vines, 22. He served with the 1st Marine Division in Korea, where he was blinded by a mortar shell.

Without batting an eye, he plunged into the dark river at the first cry from two teen-aged girls who were swept toward midstream after they stepped into deep water while wading near the bank.

James Peacock, also 22, went to the aid of the young girls, but a recent illness left him no match for the strong current.

Vines swam toward the girls' cry of distress. He reached Anne Louise Ball, 18, and grabbed her by the arm, then swam with her in tow until he found the other, Barbara Wood, 15.

He told Barbara to hold on to both of them, and the three began their breathless way shoreward.

About 40 feet from the bank Barbara said she could swim the rest of the way, and struck out alone.

Vines reached land with Anne Louise—and heard Barbara cry out again as she was swept back into the swirling central current. He leapt back into the water and headed toward the sound of Barbara's voice.

This time there were about 200 yards to go. Witnesses said the young girl was going under the third time when Vines got to her. Once more he began the long haul back.

He made it, then turned and pulled the faltering Peacock from the river.

Boy, 14, Killed In Factory Fall

New York, June 28 (AP)—A 14-year-old boy was fatally injured when he fell from the roof of a Bronx factory that he was attempting to loot for the second time last night, police reported.

Police said the youth, Martin Julian of the Bronx entered the building through a skylight and then slipped when he tried to climb down a pile of boxes stacked there. He plunged down to a concrete floor.

Police later arrested three other teenagers who had accompanied Julian in the return visit to the factory at 580 Jackson avenue.

Earlier in the evening, police said, the four broke into the building and stole $36.15 from a safe. They went back in hope of finding more money.

Friends Call Police

After Julian fell, his friends called police and then fled, leaving the injured boy unconscious on the floor. He died shortly after police took him to Lincoln Hospital.

After questioning his three companions, police said they admitted taking small amounts of money from six other establishments in the past few months.

One of the three, Walter Hatch, 16, of the Bronx, was held on charges of burglary. The other two, both 14 years old, were booked on juvenile delinquency charges. Their names were not made public.

11 Persons Hurt In Bus Accident

New York, June 28 (AP)—A city-owned bus crashed into a concrete abutment in the east Bronx early today, injuring 11 persons, two seriously.

The driver said he swerved at 177th street near Havemeyer ave. to avoid hitting an automobile which had cut him off. The bus struck the abutment at 2:45 a. m.

The driver, James Wilson, 40, of 742 St. Nicholas ave., was trapped behind the wheel. A passenger, Alexander Findley, 49, of 1576 Unionport Road, the Bronx, was also pinned by the impact.

After they were freed by police, Wilson and Findley were taken to Fordham hospital, where their conditions were reported as serious.

Findley' right foot was amputated. The hospital said the driver had suffered a compound fracture of the right leg.

The transit authority bus, which was considerably damaged had been on its way to West Farms from Queens.

Blind Veteran Rescues Three

Lucedale, Miss., June 28 (AP)—A blind Korean War veteran rescued three companions from drowning last night in the Pascagoula river.

Danger was old hat to Charles Vines, 22. He served with the 1st Marine Division in Korea, where he was blinded by a mortar shell.

Without batting an eye, he plunged into the dark river at the first cry from two teen-aged girls who were swept toward midstream after they stepped into deep water while wading near the bank.

James Peacock, also 22, went to the aid of the young girls, but a recent illness left him no match for the strong current.

Vines swam toward the girls' cry of distress. He reached Anne Louise Ball, 18, and grabbed her by the arm, then swam with her in tow until he found the other, Barbara Wood, 15.

He told Barbara to hold on to both of them, and the three began their breathless way shoreward.

About 40 feet from the bank Barbara said she could swim the rest of the way, and struck out alone.

Vines reached land with Anne Louise—and heard Barbara cry out again as she was swept back into the swirling central current. He leapt back into the water and headed toward the sound of Barbara's voice.

This time there were about 200 yards to go. Witnesses said the young girl was going under the third time when Vines got to her. Once more he began the long haul back.

He made it, then turned and pulled the faltering Peacock from the river.

Asks Labor to Help

New York, June 28 (AP)—William H. Davis, former chairman of the War Labor Board, called on organized labor yesterday to back Casper Citron for the Democratic nomination in the 18th Congressional Districts and to repudiate the Democratic party's renomination of the incumbent, Rep. James G. Donovan.

Boy, 14, Killed In Factory Fall

New York, June 28 (AP)—A 14-year-old boy was fatally injured when he fell from the roof of a Bronx factory that he was attempting to loot for the second time last night, police reported.

Police said the youth, Martin Julian of the Bronx entered the building through a skylight and then slipped when he tried to climb down a pile of boxes stacked there. He plunged down to a concrete floor.

Police later arrested three other teenagers who had accompanied Julian in the return visit to the factory at 580 Jackson avenue.

Earlier in the evening, police said, the four broke into the building and stole $36.15 from a safe. They went back in hope of finding more money.

Friends Call Police

After Julian fell, his friends called police and then fled, leaving the injured boy unconscious on the floor. He died shortly after police took him to Lincoln Hospital.

After questioning his three companions, police said they admitted taking small amounts of money from six other establishments in the past few months.

One of the three, Walter Hatch, 16, of the Bronx, was held on charges of burglary. The other two, both 14 years old, were booked on juvenile delinquency charges. Their names were not made public.

The official records of international matches are mines of information for bridge players. Today's hand comes from the official record of the World Championship Match of 1954, held last January in Monte Carlo. Like the record of the 1953 match, it is published by the American Contract Bridge League.

Few American experts would make an opening two bid with the North hand. Karl Schneider, the great Viennese expert, not only considered his hand worth a two bid, but he even carried on to a slam when his partner, Jean Besse, made a jump bid in clubs to show a very strong suit.

Dou Steen, the young California expert who held the West cards, opened the ace of diamonds. When this held, he shifted to a low heart.

Declarer won the second trick in dummy with the ace of hearts and thought long and deeply.

It was obvious that he had to draw trumps without losing a trick to the missing king. Should he take a finesse, or should he play the ace in the hope of dropping a blank king?

The percentage play is to finesse for the king when you have only nine trumps. In fact, it is still correct to finesse for the king when you have ten trumps. Only when you have 11 cards in the suit is it proper to play for a one-one split.

Besse was well aware of the mathematical odds, but he still played the ace of clubs and dropped Steen's black king.

As soon as West led the ace of diamonds, there was a slight presumption that he had prospects of a trump trick. Good players seldom lead the ace of a bid suit against a slam contract in a total-point match except when they want to make sure of that trick because they also hope to get a trump trick.

This suspicion was confirmed when West failed to lead a spade at the second trick. If West had only a small trump or two, he would surely try to make dummy use up the singleton trump in order to prevent declarer from taking a trump finesse through East.

The fact that West failed to make this play proved that he was anxious for declarer to take the trump finesse.

West could be glad of a trump finesse only if he held the blank king of trumps. On this reasoning Besse put up the ace of clubs on the first round of trump and easily made his slam contract.

Celebrates Birthday

New York, June 28 (AP)—An estimated 7,500 well-wishers turned up yesterday at John Golden's Long Island estate where the patriarch of New York's show business celebrated his 80th birthday. Bands and choral groups gave a performance while thousands of youngsters ran and tumbled on the sports field adjoining the large home at Bayside, Queens. Bernard Baruch, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Gen. David Sarnoff showed up for the occasion. Golden continues his Broadway activities but recently has concentrated on his nine-acre estate which he has turned over for picnics and sports for youngsters.

Warning Is Asked

Malone, June 28 (AP)—The New York Department of the American Veterans of World War 2 and Korea has called on the United States to warn Russia that continued Communist efforts to infiltrate Latin America will result in war. The organization concluded its three-day state convention yesterday. Among officers elected was Harold Cooley of Levittown, second vice commander.

Actress Is Wed

Hollywood, June 28 (AP)—Actress Wanda Hendrix, 25, and wealthy Sportsman James Langford Stack Jr., 38, left yesterday for a two-month honeymoon at his family's Lake Tahoe Lodge. They were married Saturday.

Death Ends Speech

North Tarrytown, June 28 (AP)—The baccalaureate address for North Tarrytown High School's senior class ended abruptly yesterday when the speaker collapsed and died midway through his talk. The Rev. George A. Feare, pastor of the First Methodist Church here, faltered and then crumpled to the floor. His wife was among the 300 persons in the auditorium, most of them parents, students and teachers. A doctor said he had been treating Feare for a heart condition.

Religion Kept Alive

New York, June 28 (AP) — A Fordham University educator says he has evidence that Catholic priests have kept religion alive in Siberian labor camps. The Rev. Frederick Wilcox, S.J., director of the Russian Center Study Group at Fordham, said yesterday many escapees told him captive priests say Masses, using improvised altars, and even give communion to fellow prisoners. Some services are held while Soviet guards stand nearby unaware, Father Wilcox said at a longshoremen's communion breakfast.

Colorado has 48 peaks more than 14,000 feet high.

Hawley, Pa., June 28 (AP)—Dr. George T. Rodman, a practicing physician for 60 years who worked nights for The Associated Press in New York while studying for his medical degree, celebrated his 90th birthday here today. Sarcophagus Is Empty; Search Is To Be Continued

Cairo, Egypt, June 28 (AP)—The recently uncovered "Saqqara Sarcophagus" proved to be empty yesterday but its discoverer thinks he will find the real tomb of an ancient pharaoh deeper within the pyramid.

Archeologist Zakaria Goneim, who found the sarcophagus May 31 beneath a step pyramid he had discovered last December, said last night it was a "symbolic tomb" and he expects "to find the real one somewhere else in the pyramid."

"Any possibility that the tomb had been robbed should be ruled out," he declared.

The tomb was opened amid great secrecy yesterday, but a communique from the education ministry said it was empty. The ministry said work in the area, some 20 miles south of Cairo, would be suspended until late fall.

Sought Royal Mummy

After Goneim found the seven-ton sarcophagus, he told newsmen he hoped to find inside "a royal mummy inside a wooden coffin ornated with gold." He believed it the last resting place of Sankhet, a third dynasty monarch who reigned over Egypt about 2,750 years before Christ.

Both the Sarcophagus and the corridors leading to it were found sealed. Archeologists said they were almost sure the pyramid had not been entered by ancient robbers who despoiled most of such relics. Among the many such discovered, only the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen, young Pharaoh of the 18th Dynasty, was found untouched.

Belief Is Shared

Goneim's belief that a real funeral chamber lies elsewhere in the Pyramid was shared by William Hayes, curator of Egyptian art at New York's Metropolitan Art Museum. Hayes is visiting Egypt to study the excavations in Saqqara and at the Giza Pyramid, where a solar boat was discovered early in June.

Hayes visited the Sarcophagus after it was opened and said "careful examination proved to me it never contained anything." He termed it "just a decoy" and added, "I believe a real funeral chamber might later be located somewhere deeper beneath the Pyramid."

The American expert said the Sarcophagus was still a most important find.

"We archeologists are searching for information and not for bodies," he declared. "The discovery provided us, and will provide us, with much of this information."

Four Die in Fire

Phillipsburg, N. J., June 28 (AP)—A pre-dawn fire tore through a frame house near here yesterday, burning to death a young mother, her two sons and a niece. Victims of the rampaging flames in the Harmony township home were Mrs. Thelma Baker, 25, her sons, Ronald Sebring, 5, and Robert Earl Baker, 2, and the niece, 10-year-old Claudia Ludwig of East Stroudsburg, Pa. Young Ronald was Mrs. Baker's son by a previous marriage. Mrs. Baker, who first fled from the burning house, dashed back inside when she heard the children's screams.

Miss Marie Van Wormer, teacher of grade 3A, will leave Tuesday for her home in Slingerlands for the vacation.

The 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Amos H. Weed was celebrated Sunday when open house between the hours of 4 and 7 p. m. gave an opportunity for many friends to call and more than 50 persons attended. Mrs. Weed, the former Miss Bertha married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Palmatier, June 20, 1894. They have a daughter, Mrs. Mildred Percy and a son, Thurlow Weed. Mr. Weed has retired from active work, but with Mrs. Weed are active members of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church and Mr. Weed is a past master of Adonai Lodge F & AM and is one of the trustees.

Valmore LeBel presided for the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night. One item discussed was the setting up of an information center and its advantages in an industrial way; another subject was the setting up of an exhibit in the empty storeroom in the Nardone building on the corner of Vineyard and Milton roads. This in particular for Round-Up week. The parking lot was another consideration, and a 8 by 12 foot sign on Ossie property on the Milton road calling attention to motorists that this was the garden spot of the Hudson valley.

Girl Will Finish Vacation in Woods

Markleeville, Calif., June 28 (AP)—Little Kathy Paxton, who survived more than 40 hours without food or shelter in the High Sierra wilderness with no more serious consequences than a couple of bumps, is going back to Woods Lake to finish her vacation today.

The red-clad 5-year-old was located up the granite cliffs 1½ miles from Woods Lake yesterday by Alvin Van Dell, 30, a timber cruiser. He joined the search "because I knew the country around there."

Van Dell and a friend, Louis Avery, started to work the high country because they thought others among the 500 looking for Kathy had thoroughly worked lower lands. Woods Lake is at 8,500 feet elevation near Kit Carson pass on the ridge of the High Seierra.

They found Kathy's foot prints—but lost them. After circling fruitlessly, Van Dell called "Lou, Lou" to Avery.

But it was Kathy who answered.

Sleeping in Crevice

"Why don't you call me?" she piped from a nearby ledge. She had been sleeping in a crevice when Van Dell called from only a few feet away.

A doctor said that aside from a bruised eye, and a chipped tooth, plus not having eaten for more than a day and a half, Kathy was all right.

Kathy smiled and waved at very one, and only cried when she learned that original plans called for her to go home—not back to the camp at Woods Lake.

So her mother, Mrs. Stewart Crandall, said:

"If that's what she wants, to go back to the camp, we'll do it. Perhaps the fun there will make her forget the happening. But it'll not make me forget. I feel like 93 instead of 33."

Kathy disappeared Friday evening. She said she drank water from a hole but had nothing to eat.

Plane Skids to Safety

New York, June 28 (AP)—A Colonial Airlines DC-4 plane skidded in safely on its tail at La Guardia Field yesterday despite a damaged nose wheel. Emergency equipment raced along the runway as the craft landed. Capt. Lou Orton, of Pawling ordered his 33 passengers to the rear of the plane as it approached landing. The plane landed in a shower of sparks and was practically stopped before its weight shifted to the nose wheel. The 43-year-old aviator said he noticed the damage shortly after the plane took off from Glens Falls.

I tell myself that I got by
With just the merest trace of it,
But later I discover I
Have got a painful case of it.
—Richard Wheeler

In four generations of oldest daughters, my great-grandmother is 23 years older than my grandmother, my grandmother is 23 years older than my mother, and my mother is 23 years older than I. I'm 14—Joe Wise, Arapahoe, N. C.

She—Is Lulu happilly married?
Her—Gosh, yes. She's got a husband that's skeered to death of her.

Work—something that when we have it we wish we didn't; when we don't have it we wish we did, and the object of it is to be able to afford not to do any some day.

What is more pleasant than the smell of newly cut grass—especially when someone else is cutting it?

Tripping lightly across the campus, the pretty co-ed noticed a handsome athlete approaching her with obvious interest.

He—You probably don't know me, but I've seen you around a lot.

She (shyly)—I've noticed you too.

He—Well, are you doing anything tonight?

She — Why, no! (excitedly) What did you have in mind?

Two Killed When Planes Collide in Air Columbus Area

Columbus, Ohio, June 28 (AP)—A Navy Beechcraft exploded "like a ball of fire" and an American Airlines passenger ship skidded on to land on its nose last night after the two planes collided on approaching Port Columbus Airport.

Two naval reserve officers died in the crash.

John G. Rarkin, 54, of Louisville, one of 31 passengers on the Memphis-to-Cleveland American Airlines Convair, suffered friction burns sliding down a rope from the plane after it crashlanded. He said a woman passenger stalled in front of him, afraid of the 25-foot slide down a rope.

"Lady," he told her, "we've got to go."

He said he grabbed her with his right arm and slid down the rope by his left hand. He suffered severe hand burns.

Eyewitnesses on the ground said the navy plane exploded in a "ball of fire," spattering burning debris in the dusk, then crashed just east of the Port Columbus Airport.

The dead were identified as Lt. Cmdr. John R. Hoerath, 35, of nearby Westerville and Lt. Cmdr. Donald G. Edgar, 48, of Columbus.

Brings in Plane

Somehow Capt. J. C. Pollard, pilot of the American Airlines passenger Convair, brought his ship safely to earth.

Its wings were flaming from gasoline spilled in the crash and the left engine was torn loose.

Crippled and burning, it skidded across the Port Columbus runway on its nose.

Trapped inside by a damaged exit door up front near the nose, the passengers and three crew members escaped down a coarse rope 25 feet to safety.

A baby was dropped into the arms of its parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Herrman of Columbus, when they were unable to take the child with them down the rope.

Troop 5 Honors B'nai B'rith on Sponsor's Night

During an impressive ceremony Wednesday night in the garden of the Jewish Community Center, Boy Scout Troop 5 honored Zephaniah Lodge 131 of B'nai B'rith for its role over the years as the sponsoring organization of this scout troop, before a gathering of scouts, their parents, and members of B'nai B'rith.

Opening with the entrance of the Troop Color Guard, the recitation of the Scout Law and Scout Oath, and the Pledge to the Flag under the general direction of Scoutmaster Arnold Hyman, the evening's program of Troop 5 was headed by Troop Committee Chairman John Levy.

Installation Held

The installation of the new troop committee was conducted by Bernhardt Kramer, second vice president of B'nai B'rith, who represented President Daniel Weisberg in his absence. Kramer reviewed the role of B'nai B'rith in community affairs and stressed the fact that B'nai B'rith's sponsorship of the troop was in line with its purpose of fostering good citizenship and Americanism. The Boy Scout program tries to achieve this through scouting. Kramer installed the following members of the troop committee: John Levy, chairman of troop committee; Julius Kirschner, vice-chairman; Jay Melton, finance committeeman; S. Lewis Gaber, committee secretary; Herbert Siller, institutional representative; Richard Kalish and Aaron Klein, committeemen - at - large; David Badian, advancement committeeman; Dr. William Dean, outdoor activities committeeman. Scout Leaders installed were Sherman Adin, Lionel Grahmer, Joseph Kline, Walter Suskind and Elmore Yallum.

One of the highlights was the ceremonial advancement of Scout Stephen Krosner, who was presented with his first class scout pin by Joseph Shapiro, assistant scoutmaster of Troop 12. Shapiro explained the meaning of scouting to the assemblage and what achievement is represented in first class scouting. In addition to Scout Krosner's pin presentation, a token pin was presented to Mrs. Krosner.

To give realism to the program, the troop engaged in a number of demonstrations of scout lore, including tent-pitching, fire making, wood chopping and first aid.

Following the scouting demonstrations, Robert C. Tremper, district commissioner for the Kingston District, Rip Van Winkle Council, explained to the Scouts and guests the program for summer scouting at Camp Tri-Mount. At the conclusion of Commissioner Tremper's address, and after a question and answer period, a number of the Scouts indicated their desire to attend Camp Tri-Mount.

Outlines Work of Men

On behalf of B'nai B'rith, Herbert M. Siller, co-chairman of the lodge's Scout committee, presented tokens of appreciation to Chairman John Levy, Vice Chairman Julius Kirschner and Scoutmaster Arnold Hyman. Siller outlined the work of these men during the past year on behalf of the troop and made special mention of the fine leadership of Arnold Hyman, who was leaving the troop since he would not be in Kingston in the fall.

In his closing remarks, Troop Chairman John Levy expressed the sentiment of the assemblage toward B'nai B'rith for its valued sponsorship of the troop. He pointed out the assistance given by JCC Executive Director S. Lewis Gaber, in helping to revitalize scouting activity. Levy also extended the thanks of both the troop and the lodge to Richard Kalish, who as co-chairman of the B'nai B'rith Scout Committee and JCC board director, had given his time and effort to Troop 5.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, the Scouts and guests were invited for refreshments provided through the efforts of the B'nai B'rith Scout Committee and the mothers. Assisting the committee in serving were Mrs. Joseph Honig and Mrs. Joseph Krosner.

CONSTIPATED?

"I can't afford to lose any time at work. But when I was constipated, I just couldn't work because no laxative gave me the relief I wanted.

"Then a friend told me about Sal Hepatica. So I took some the next time I woke up with that headachy, logy feeling due to constipation. And, let me tell you, it was just what I was looking for. Why I felt like my old self again within about an hour!"

Yes, take sparkling Sal Hepatica before breakfast and feel fine again . . . usually within an hour. Or, take it in the evening one-half hour before supper and feel fine again by bedtime! Sweetens sour stomach, too! So keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

He said he grabbed her with his right arm and slid down the rope by his left hand. He suffered severe hand burns.

Eyewitnesses on the ground said the navy plane exploded in a "ball of fire," spattering burning debris in the dusk, then crashed just east of the Port Columbus Airport.

The dead were identified as Lt. Cmdr. John R. Hoerath, 35, of nearby Westerville and Lt. Cmdr. Donald G. Edgar, 48, of Columbus.

Brings in Plane

Somehow Capt. J. C. Pollard, pilot of the American Airlines passenger Convair, brought his ship safely to earth.

Its wings were flaming from gasoline spilled in the crash and the left engine was torn loose.

Crippled and burning, it skidded across the Port Columbus runway on its nose.

Trapped inside by a damaged exit door up front near the nose, the passengers and three crew members escaped down a coarse rope 25 feet to safety.

A baby was dropped into the arms of its parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Herrman of Columbus, when they were unable to take the child with them down the rope.

Bulb Storage Tip

Holland, Mich. (AP) — If you want your tulip blooms big and healthy, stash the bulbs in an old pair of nylon hose when you dig them up. That is the advice of Holland's professional growers. The important thing is to let the bulbs dry properly, they say.

Troop 5 Honors B'nai B'rith on Sponsor's Night

During an impressive ceremony Wednesday night in the garden of the Jewish Community Center, Boy Scout Troop 5 honored Zephaniah Lodge 131 of B'nai B'rith for its role over the years as the sponsoring organization of this scout troop, before a gathering of scouts, their parents, and members of B'nai B'rith.

Opening with the entrance of the Troop Color Guard, the recitation of the Scout Law and Scout Oath, and the Pledge to the Flag under the general direction of Scoutmaster Arnold Hyman, the evening's program of Troop 5 was headed by Troop Committee Chairman John Levy.

Installation Held

The installation of the new troop committee was conducted by Bernhardt Kramer, second vice president of B'nai B'rith, who represented President Daniel Weisberg in his absence. Kramer reviewed the role of B'nai B'rith in community affairs and stressed the fact that B'nai B'rith's sponsorship of the troop was in line with its purpose of fostering good citizenship and Americanism. The Boy Scout program tries to achieve this through scouting. Kramer installed the following members of the troop committee: John Levy, chairman of troop committee; Julius Kirschner, vice-chairman; Jay Melton, finance committeeman; S. Lewis Gaber, committee secretary; Herbert Siller, institutional representative; Richard Kalish and Aaron Klein, committeemen - at - large; David Badian, advancement committeeman; Dr. William Dean, outdoor activities committeeman. Scout Leaders installed were Sherman Adin, Lionel Grahmer, Joseph Kline, Walter Suskind and Elmore Yallum.

One of the highlights was the ceremonial advancement of Scout Stephen Krosner, who was presented with his first class scout pin by Joseph Shapiro, assistant scoutmaster of Troop 12. Shapiro explained the meaning of scouting to the assemblage and what achievement is represented in first class scouting. In addition to Scout Krosner's pin presentation, a token pin was presented to Mrs. Krosner.

To give realism to the program, the troop engaged in a number of demonstrations of scout lore, including tent-pitching, fire making, wood chopping and first aid.

Following the scouting demonstrastrations, Robert C. Tremper, district commissioner for the Kingston District, Rip Van Winkle Council, explained to the Scouts and guests the program for summer scouting at Camp Tri-Mount. At the conclusion of Commissioner Tremper's address, and after a question and answer period, a number of the Scouts indicated their desire to attend Camp Tri-Mount.

Outlines Work of Men

On behalf of B'nai B'rith, Herbert M. Siller, co-chairman of the lodge's Scout committee, presented tokens of appreciation to Chairman John Levy, Vice Chairman Julius Kirschner and Scoutmaster Arnold Hyman. Siller outlined the work of these men duting the past year on behalf of the troop and made special mention of the fine leadership of Arnold Hyman, who was leaving the troop since he would not be in Kingston in the fall.

In his closing remarks, Troop Chairman John Levy expressed the sentiment of the assemblage toward B'nai B'rith for its valued sponsorship of the troop. He pointed out the assistance given by JCC Executive Director S. Lewis Gaber, in helping to revitalize scouting activity. Levy also extended the thanks of both the troop and the lodge to Richard Kalish, who as co-chairman of the B'nai B'rith Scout Committee and JCC board director, had given his time and effort to Troop 5.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, the Scouts and guests were invited for refreshments provided through the efforts of the B'nai B'rith Scout Committee and the mothers. Assisting the committee in serving were Mrs. Joseph Honig and Mrs. Joseph Krosner.

CONSTIPATED?

"I can't afford to lose any time at work. But when I was constipated, I just couldn't work because no laxative gave me the relief I wanted.

"Then a friend told me about Sal Hepatica. So I took some the next time I woke up with that headachy, logy feeling due to constipation. And, let me tell you, it was just what I was looking for. Why I felt like my old self again within about an hour!"

Yes, take sparkling Sal Hepatica before breakfast and feel fine again . . . usually within an hour. Or, take it in the evening one-half hour before supper and feel fine again by bedtime! Sweetens sour stomach, too! So keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

The wedding ceremony was performed before a nuptial Mass in St. Mary's Church by the bride's brother, the Rev. Edmund W. Netter of St. Eugene's Church, Yonkers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of nylon tulle and Chantilly lace over slipper satin made with a fitted lace bodice with long pointed sleeves, an illusion yoke with neckline outlined with lace iridescent sequins and seed pearls and a full lace skirt that terminated to a cathedral train of nylon tulle. Her fingertip veil was of imported white silk illusion attached to a tiara of sequins and pearls. She carried a white prayer book covered with white stephanotis.

The maid-of-honor, Miss Ellen A. Netter, sister of the bride, was dressed in a gown of blue embroidered organdy, floor length, with strapless fitted bodice and sleeveless jacket. The very full bouffant skirt had a dust ruffle of plain blue. She wore a blue tiara of iridescent sequins and pearls with nose veil. Her colonial bouquet was of white gladioli and blue delphinium.

The bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth M. Dwyer and Miss Kathleen A. Netter, cousin of the bride. Their gowns were identical to that of the maid of honor and they wore tiaras of starched lace embroidered with pearl and nose veils of matching colors. Their colonial bouquets were of shell pink and blue delphinium.

Joseph Moser of Newburgh, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. The ushers were Robert Schwenk, Joseph Jordan, James Rua and John Netter, cousin of the bride.

The organist was Ted Riccobono and the soloist Martin Kelly, Jr., sang wedding selections.

The church was decorated with palms and white gladioli and blue delphinium in honor of the Marian Year.

RED NEED NOT BE SHOCKING

A reader tells me: "I am going to Europe this summe with a friend who has traveled a good deal. I bought a red hat, shoes and purse which I had intended to wear with a suit while traveling abroad. When I showed my friend what I bought she told me that I could not possibly wear red abroad as the people in foreign countries consider a woman in red to be a person of questionable character. I can't believe such a thing is true, and certainly smart women do wear red even in Europe. It is important that you clear this matter up for me."

I would say it depends upon the amount of brightness of the red, and the conspicuousness of your own appearance and behavior. I personally have worn the brightest of very small hats and worn red shoes and carried hand-bags in red everywhere in Europe and caused no comment even from outstandingly conservative relatives.

Announcement of Change of Name

Dear Mrs. Post: We recently had our name legally changed and would like to inform our friends of this fact. Will you please tell me the correct way of notifying them of this change?

Answer: Send out cards reading:

Groom's Family's Expense

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is marrying a man from another state. His parents are coming here for the wedding. As we live in a small apartment, it will be impossible for us to put them up. Is it up to us to make the reservations for them at the hotel and also to pay the hotel bill? Will you please tell us what is customary under these circumstances?

Answer: There is no fixed rule for this situation. If the bride's family are well-to-do, they do perhaps take a number of rooms in a nearby hotel for members of his family, but this is not an obligation, and more often than not the groom's family pay their own expenses.

What are the essential requirements for the bride's hope chest? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her leaflet E-5, includes a list of needs for the hope chest and trousseau. Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

"Beware of building a society in which no one counts for anything except a politician or an official, in which industry has no reward and thrift no privilege."

Such a society was built in England. And "England now lives on the American dole." It pitted class against class and pictured the Free Enterprise System as the enemy of the workingman.

Mr. Hutton

It was built on slogans such as "wolves of Wall Street," "economic royalists," money changers in the temple," and "vested interests." Wealth was called a public enemy.

How shocking and lamentable. The political surgeons use words instead of a knife to implant in the minds of millions of young folks the thought that those who had climbed the ladder of success were nothing but "coupon clippers." But few answered in rebuttal.

The left wing of the Democratic party is a determined set of men. They will use all tactics to come back into power, and then the substance of America will be further dissipated.

There is a better slogan for the future of our young people. It is THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. Repeat, "UNITED."

Lincoln said in 1838: "If destruction be our lot, we must be its author and finisher. As a nation of free men we must live through all times or die by suicide."

By FRANK TRIPP

The era of the specialist has in some manner changed the lives of everybody. Its effect is reflected in practically everything with which people come into contact. It has even speeded up nature.

This is as true of communication as it is of medicine, science and transportation. The newspaper is a notable example, which only an old practitioner can appreciate. So how can the populace realize what has happened to its daily reading in a single generation?

It is hard to believe how recently the newspaper was the only means of mass communication, and the fastest. It took centuries to advance from the signal fire to the telegraph. Now a year can outmode the newest communication gadget.

Today any housewife with a $12 radio is days and weeks earlier abreast of world news than were Greeley, Bennett and Dana; and hours ahead of editors still living. Anna in her kitchen gets news quicker than I got it at the telegraph desk 40 years ago. So, why has the newspaper survived?

THE ANSWER proved as great a surprise to newsmen as to their readers, who supplied it. The impact of the news, the surprise element in it, the "scoop," never could have been the genuine excuse for or the main function of the newspaper; else it could not have survived.

For in the face of the dramatic communication progress that threatened to destroy it, the newspaper has grown amazingly in demand and acceptance; increased 30 per cent in circulation.

To its own amazement the newspaper discovered that to be "firstest" was less important than to be "mostest"; that all of the time it had been the so-called secondary "followup" of the news that was the real life blood of the newspaper.

The newsroom has not forsaken the "scoop," but it has deserted it as an idol, moved it into second place. The specialists and analysists have taken over.

The reading public has established that thoroughness, verification and interpretation constitute the "scoop" that counts. Newspapers lived on that very diet—and didn't know it. Back when the "scoop" was king, the followup was creating the solid foundation upon which today's newspaper flourishes.

To be surprised or astounded turns out to have been the "loss leader"; comprehensiveness, the real package.

IT DEVELOPS that "why" sells more newspapers than "what, when, where"—and always has.

It had never seemed important to analyze, for example, why sports fans pore over news reports of events they attended; a ball game or a fight which they witnessed.

Why buy a paper; they saw it all with their own eyes, who can tell them more?

Sure, they saw, but did they see right; do they remember correctly? Was that a hit or an error, was that a low blow in the fourth round; what do the trained experts say about it?

They are uncertain about something they saw or they want the inside dope on their favorite sport. They can't get this from screens or ringside. So they read it, perhaps preserve it.

They know the result, but they want the why of it, as do readers who already know what happened in Asia, Washington and Timbuktu.

IT IS the everlasting desire of people to be thorough about things that interest them—not just that they happened. It is true of all phases of the news.

That is why radio and television sell newspapers. They are the news bulletins, the flash extras of yesterday. They create the urge to know more, to be specifically informed—to read about it.

The modern newspaper is the specialist of specialists in news interpretation. In that, as in hometown coverage, it still is first—and tops.

Spillane May Let His Hero Quit; No More Violence

BY HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—Mickey Spillane, the literary gore-shedder, is feeling the gentle touch of time.

At 36 the Brooklyn-born author is mellowing himself, and feels the public also is so weary of the post-war cycle of violence that he is considering making Mike Hammer his famous mythical private detective, turn in his brass knucks forever.

Back in 1946 in "I, The Jury," Mike startled and fascinated the world of mice-men by drilling an amorous blonde through the stomach and telling her "it was easy."

Public Liked Him

Sherlock Holmes would have dismissed Mike Hammer as a dastard and a cad, but the public went crazy over a guy who could win a verdict over a blonde, even with a gun. Spillane says the seven thrillers he has written about muscle Mike have sold 60 million copies, been reprinted in 11 languages.

"I have the distinct honor of even having been translated into English for the British market," dryly remarked Spillane, a stocky former war flier.

"I have another book ready to go called, Tonight I Die," and I feel it will be the last one about Mike.

"You have to change. You have to go with the market. I've used hatred as a motivation up to now. But we're over the war. Hate and violence are worn thin. People want books now built around subtle moods and character."

Research Is Personal

Mickey hinted he had another reason—that he was weary of taking the personal risks of more underworld researches for Mike's exploits.

"Fifty per cent of the situations I write about are true," he said. "But you can get clobbered once too often getting your background material.

"From now on I think I'll write nothing but fiction."

Mickey and his friend Jack Stang, a Newburgh, N. Y., cop, returned recently from Hollywood, where they acted with Clyde Beatty in "Ring of Fear," the story of a psychopathic killer in a circus.

Over a dinner of steak and beer (contrary to reports, Spillane doesn't sip plasma through a straw), Mickey discussed the way Hollywood murders plots.

Can't Use Typewriter

"I like Hollywood," he said, "but I don't think much of some of the Hollywood writers. Put them in front of a typewriter and they're helpless. They have to drool into a microphone.

"If you give them a good story all they keep is the title. They don't know what to do with a good story. They have to try to make it an epic.

"When I have a story to write, I sit down and write it. I wrote 'I, the Jury' for $1,000 in 19 days while I was living in a tent. I never took more than three weeks to write a book in my life. I can write 10,000 words in a day."

Mickey, who dwells in a black-and-white world where a guy is either your pal or probably a bum, clings to his old friends, has a morbid fear success might go to his crew-cut head.

"I don't like people who get famous and something happens to their minds," he said. "That doesn't happen to the good ones."

Lives Near Newburgh

He and his wife, "Baby," live in a house they built themselves on a 28-acre estate "of grass and weeds" near Newburgh with their two small children and a dog.

Mickey, who yearns to be an acrobat, spends his days now practicing back flips in his front yard. If he doesn't break his neck, he plans a brief tour this summer with a circus.

His other hobbies are collecting classical records—"I can't stand jive"—and stock motor car racing.

"I've got six cars—cars are good for you," he said earnestly. "They keep you out of trouble."

His favorite is a geared up 1951 stock model in which he can keep out of trouble at 150 miles an hour.

Sometimes Spillane's father, a former bartender, comes over to shake his head at his son's antics.

"He can't understand," said Mickey, "Why I don't go out and get a steady job like other men."

Back in 1946 in "I, The Jury," Mike startled and fascinated the world of mice-men by drilling an amorous blonde through the stomach and telling her "it was easy."

Public Liked Him

Sherlock Holmes would have dismissed Mike Hammer as a dastard and a cad, but the public went crazy over a guy who could win a verdict over a blonde, even with a gun. Spillane says the seven thrillers he has written about muscle Mike have sold 60 million copies, been reprinted in 11 languages.

"I have the distinct honor of even having been translated into English for the British market," dryly remarked Spillane, a stocky former war flier.

"I have another book ready to go called, Tonight I Die," and I feel it will be the last one about Mike.

"You have to change. You have to go with the market. I've used hatred as a motivation up to now. But we're over the war. Hate and violence are worn thin. People want books now built around subtle moods and character."

Research Is Personal

Mickey hinted he had another reason—that he was weary of taking the personal risks of more underworld researches for Mike's exploits.

"Fifty per cent of the situations I write about are true," he said. "But you can get clobbered once too often getting your background material.

"From now on I think I'll write nothing but fiction."

Mickey and his friend Jack Stang, a Newburgh, N. Y., cop, returned recently from Hollywood, where they acted with Clyde Beatty in "Ring of Fear," the story of a psychopathic killer in a circus.

Over a dinner of steak and beer (contrary to reports, Spillane doesn't sip plasma through a straw), Mickey discussed the way Hollywood murders plots.

Can't Use Typewriter

"I like Hollywood," he said, "but I don't think much of some of the Hollywood writers. Put them in front of a typewriter and they're helpless. They have to drool into a microphone.

"If you give them a good story all they keep is the title. They don't know what to do with a good story. They have to try to make it an epic.

"When I have a story to write, I sit down and write it. I wrote 'I, the Jury' for $1,000 in 19 days while I was living in a tent. I never took more than three weeks to write a book in my life. I can write 10,000 words in a day."

Mickey, who dwells in a black-and-white world where a guy is either your pal or probably a bum, clings to his old friends, has a morbid fear success might go to his crew-cut head.

"I don't like people who get famous and something happens to their minds," he said. "That doesn't happen to the good ones."

Lives Near Newburgh

He and his wife, "Baby," live in a house they built themselves on a 28-acre estate "of grass and weeds" near Newburgh with their two small children and a dog.

Mickey, who yearns to be an acrobat, spends his days now practicing back flips in his front yard. If he doesn't break his neck, he plans a brief tour this summer with a circus.

His other hobbies are collecting classical records—"I can't stand jive"—and stock motor car racing.

"I've got six cars—cars are good for you," he said earnestly. "They keep you out of trouble."

His favorite is a geared up 1951 stock model in which he can keep out of trouble at 150 miles an hour.

Sometimes Spillane's father, a former bartender, comes over to shake his head at his son's antics.

"He can't understand," said Mickey, "Why I don't go out and get a steady job like other men."

Hughes Captures Second Herdegen Crown With Record 286

Staves Off Late Rally By Boice to Win by 4

The first player to win the Herdegen Memorial twice, George Hughes of Twaalfskill set a new tournament record of 286 Sunday as he nailed down his second crown with a 75 on Woodstock Country Club's windswept fairways.

The 286, one stroke lower than the mark set by Bill Van Aken in 1953, gave the Sweet Swinger a four-stroke margin over Alvin Boice, who shot 290 and injected some real dramatics into the final nine.

Hughes' closing round of 75 was his highest in the tournament. He had toured Wiltwyck in 73, with a 67 at Ellenville and 71 at Twaalfskill.

The victory gave the smartly-garbed Twaalfskill greenskeeper a record of two firsts and two seconds in the four-year history of the tournament.

Boice Cuts Margin

Trailing Hughes by 10 strokes at the start of the weekend's thirty-six holes, Boice shaved three strokes off Hughes' lead with a 68 Saturday at Twaalfskill.

On Woodstock's front nine Sunday, Boice was out in 35 while Hughes slumped to 39. Roy Vogt, who surrendered second place on the last two holes of the tournament, also carded a 35. When the final nine started, Hughes had a 63-hole total of 250, with Boice and Vogt hot on his heels with 253.

Hughes ran down a 10-footer for a birdie on the second hole (65th) but the real dramatics were to develop on the par-5 fifth hole (68th). This might have been the turning point that really decided the issue in Hughes' favor.

Boice needed three strokes to get on the No. 5 green where he proceeded to 3-putt, the last putt from about 20 inches.

Hughes, meanwhile, hooked his second shot into the No. 3 fairway. He pitched back with a wedge, his ball nicking a limb of a tree and rolling up to within five feet of the cup. He rammed it down for a birdie-4 to pick up two valuable strokes.

Boice bounced back with a birdie-3 on the No. 6 (69th) hole, where Hughes needed a regulation four to keep Hughes' margin at 3-strokes.

Steady at Finish

Faced with the almost impossible task of picking up three strokes on three holes, Boice tried desperately, but unsuccessfully, to birdie the 7th and 8th holes. He pushed his tee shot almost into the brook on the 7th and his approach failed to hit the green on the 8th. He had to scramble for his four. A bad tee shot cost him another stroke on the rugged ninth. Hughes had a bogie- 5 on the 7th to lead by two but finished in regulation figures of 4-3 to nail down his second title.

Vogt Slump at Finish

Vogt, one of the steadiest players in the tournament, ran into tough luck on the last two holes and finished 5-5 to surrender second place to Boice. His 292 gave him a 4-stroke bulge over Bill Van Aken, who finished with 292.

DOES IT AGAIN — George Hughes, of Twaalfskill, who won his second Ulster county amateur golf crown yesterday with a 72-hole score of 286. He won a 54-hole event in 1951.

Charles J. Turck of Woodstock and Ronnie Marks of Wiltwyck tied for fifth place with 304. Then came a three-way tie at 306 among Boyer Gonzales of Woodstock, Clarence "Dubby" Raichle of Twaalfskill and Carroll H. Schipp of Ellenville at 308.

Harold Van Aken, brother to Bill and a KHS varsity star, won 10th place with 308. Bill Kaufman of Palenville grabbed the 11th prize spot with 309.

Waterous Shoots 70

Billy Waterous of Woodstock, who shot 70 for the lowest round of the day, missed the prize list by a stroke at 311.

Saturday's round at Twaalfskill was played in ideal weather but stiff and variable winds sent scores soaring on the Woodstock layout yesterday. The fifth and ninth holes were especially troublesome for the field.

Following the matches, the golfers were guests of the Woodstock Country Club at a buffet luncheon. Saturday they were guests of Twaalfskill.

Anthony J. DeLisio, president of the Woodstock club, presented the Herdegen Memorial plaque to Hughes. The other prizes were awarded by Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor, who is director of the tournament.

A friendly tip to some of the oldies who take junior baseball too, too seriously. Why not give the game back to the small fry for whom it was originally intended.

Such a sensible approach to the whole problem of small fry baseball might also alleviate the currently desperate umpire situation. You can't expect a man who volunteers to umpire (without pay) to take abuse from adults who supervise the teams, and the fans, too. Think it over, gentlemen.

If we had our way, there wouldn't be an adult on the coaching lines in any type of junior baseball. Let the kids work out their own problems.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Best kept secret of the DUSO year, the election of our local superintendent, Arthur J. Laidlaw, to the presidency of the DUSO League. Frank Nadal, a staunch baseball man, who speaks Spanish fluently, had quite a time with the Cuban contingent of the Kansas City Monarchs and Indianapolis Clowns Wednesday at the stadium. Wonder how the conversation runs these days when Joe Hoffman and Tom Davitt discuss the relative merits of their baseball offspring? Allen E. Lybolt, of Ellenville, won third place in the Brown Trout division of the Wehle Fishing Contest for the month of May with an 8 pound, 2 ounce, beauty plucked from the Merriman Dam. Although the Destroyer A.C. boasts only a modest .500 mark in the City Softball League (5-5) they swear by Frank Boyce as the top hurler in the circuit.

Leo Durocher can scheme and dream but he can't get Wes Westrum out of that Giant lineup when the chips are down. Fellows like Sal Yvars, Ebba St. Claire were, at various times, figured ahead of the former Kingston Recreation catcher. This year, Ray Katt started out as the big man behind the bat. But he broke his hand and now the Giants are back with Westrum—and the realization, which always follows the departure of the other catcher—that this guy Wesley Noreen Westrum is a pretty good catcher.

"This is the best catcher, mechanically, that we have in baseball," Leo Durocher admits with enthusiasm. "When he gets behind the plate nobody runs. He calls the right pitch. He's murder on bunts in front of the plate. He's starting to hurt the other guy with the bat, too."

• Of Gargantuan Clouts:

Fran Herrera, the Kansas City Monarchs' youthful Cuban first base giant, powered a line drive home run blast past the light pole in deep left at the stadium. And it got veteran stadium habituees thinking about illustrious shots of the past. The longest clout this observer ever saw at the uptown park came soaring off the bat of the late Josh Gibson, perhaps the No. 1 Negro catcher of all time. (With apologies to Roy Campanella and Buck Ewing). It was hit during a batting practice of the Homestead Grays before a pre-war game with the Recreations. The ball on one hop bounced off the booth at the upper entrance gate. Joe DiMaggio pounded one of Whitey Tulacz's pitches a mile high and a mile high over the left field embankment. And the night the Boston Braves met the Recreations in August, 1942, big Max West smashed a tremendous triple high off the bank in deep right field. Those three blasts will have to do as the all-timer homeric socks at Dietz Stadium.

They tell this one about Ducky Medwick, managing Tampa, censuring one of his young hands for going after balls far out of the strike zone. The rookie bleated, "But, Mr. Medwick, I read where you were the greatest of bad ball hitters." . . . "I was," replied Ducky, "but I used a Reach bat. . . ."

Stewart Ties Bolt at 271

Wethersfield, Conn., June 28 (AP)—Colorful Tommy Bolt and red-haired Earl Stewart Jr., meet today in a battle of Texans for top money in the $15,000 Insurance City Open golf tournament.

They tied yesterday at 271 in the 72-hole tourney, one of New England's major sports events, and were scheduled to start an 18-hole playoff at 12:30 p. m. (EST). The low score at the end of the round will be worth $2,500, with $1,800 going to the loser.

Stewart picked up five strokes on Bolt yesterday. Bolt had trouble with his putter and toured the 6,551-yard par 35-36-71 course in regulation figures.

Julius Boros, Southern Pines, N. C., finished third with 273 for $1,400. Box Toski, Livingston, N. J., victor here a year ago, finished with 278.

Leaders Keep Rolling

Giants Beat Yanks, 8-4 For 9th Straight Win

League Standing

	Won	Lost
Giants	9	0
Yankees	4	4
Dodgers	2	6
Indians	1	8

Some teams can crowd the Esopus Little Giants but nobody has yet found a way to beat them.

The undefeated league leaders rolled over the Yankees, 8-4, Saturday for their ninth straight win without setback.

In the other game, the Indians shaded the Dodgers, 9-8, for their first victory in nine starts. The Yankees, in second place, have a record of 4 wins and 4 losses.

The Giants beat Charlie Brooks despite the fact he permitted only six hits and struck out 10. Darrell Myers and Curtis King collaborated to hold the Yankees to three safeties, two of them by John Dailey. Dave Cromite's double was the other.

Myers Saves Game

Darrell Myers stroked a single and double for the Giants. Ron Halsey and Curtis King also rapped doubles. Myers also saved the game in relief.

The Indians spotted the Dodgers, a 7-4 lead in the first two innings before the relief pitching and hitting of Bernie turned the tide.

Brown pounded a double and triple for the winners, while Jim Tinney went "3 for 3" including two singles and a double.

John Carter slugged a homer for the winners, who made 9 hits off Richard Terpening. The latter fanned 10 and Brown had seven strikeout victims. Terpening also had a double and single. Gene Nilan tripled and Bob Robinson hit a double. Matt Jones stroked two singles.

Hughes Captures Second Herdegen Crown With Record 286

Staves Off Late Rally By Boice to Win by 4

The first player to win the Herdegen Memorial twice, George Hughes of Twaalfskill set a new tournament record of 286 Sunday as he nailed down his second crown with a 75 on Woodstock Country Club's windswept fairways.

The 286, one stroke lower than the mark set by Bill Van Aken in 1953, gave the Sweet Swinger a four-stroke margin over Alvin Boice, who shot 290 and injected some real dramatics into the final nine.

Hughes' closing round of 75 was his highest in the tournament. He had toured Wiltwyck in 73, with a 67 at Ellenville and 71 at Twaalfskill.

The victory gave the smartly-garbed Twaalfskill greenskeeper a record of two firsts and two seconds in the four-year history of the tournament.

Boice Cuts Margin

Trailing Hughes by 10 strokes at the start of the weekend's thirty-six holes, Boice shaved three strokes off Hughes' lead with a 68 Saturday at Twaalfskill.

On Woodstock's front nine Sunday, Boice was out in 35 while Hughes slumped to 39. Roy Vogt, who surrendered second place on the last two holes of the tournament, also carded a 35. When the final nine started, Hughes had a 63-hole total of 250, with Boice and Vogt hot on his heels with 253.

Hughes ran down a 10-footer for a birdie on the second hole (65th) but the real dramatics were to develop on the par-5 fifth hole (68th). This might have been the turning point that really decided the issue in Hughes' favor.

Boice needed three strokes to get on the No. 5 green where he proceeded to 3-putt, the last putt from about 20 inches.

Hughes, meanwhile, hooked his second shot into the No. 3 fairway. He pitched back with a wedge, his ball nicking a limb of a tree and rolling up to within five feet of the cup. He rammed it down for a birdie-4 to pick up two valuable strokes.

Boice bounced back with a birdie-3 on the No. 6 (69th) hole, where Hughes needed a regulation four to keep Hughes' margin at 3-strokes.

Steady at Finish

Faced with the almost impossible task of picking up three strokes on three holes, Boice tried desperately, but unsuccessfully, to birdie the 7th and 8th holes. He pushed his tee shot almost into the brook on the 7th and his approach failed to hit the green on the 8th. He had to scramble for his four. A bad tee shot cost him another stroke on the rugged ninth. Hughes had a bogie- 5 on the 7th to lead by two but finished in regulation figures of 4-3 to nail down his second title.

Vogt Slump at Finish

Vogt, one of the steadiest players in the tournament, ran into tough luck on the last two holes and finished 5-5 to surrender second place to Boice. His 292 gave him a 4-stroke bulge over Bill Van Aken, who finished with 292.

DOES IT AGAIN — George Hughes, of Twaalfskill, who won his second Ulster county amateur golf crown yesterday with a 72-hole score of 286. He won a 54-hole event in 1951.

Charles J. Turck of Woodstock and Ronnie Marks of Wiltwyck tied for fifth place with 304. Then came a three-way tie at 306 among Boyer Gonzales of Woodstock, Clarence "Dubby" Raichle of Twaalfskill and Carroll H. Schipp of Ellenville at 308.

Harold Van Aken, brother to Bill and a KHS varsity star, won 10th place with 308. Bill Kaufman of Palenville grabbed the 11th prize spot with 309.

Waterous Shoots 70

Billy Waterous of Woodstock, who shot 70 for the lowest round of the day, missed the prize list by a stroke at 311.

Saturday's round at Twaalfskill was played in ideal weather but stiff and variable winds sent scores soaring on the Woodstock layout yesterday. The fifth and ninth holes were especially troublesome for the field.

Following the matches, the golfers were guests of the Woodstock Country Club at a buffet luncheon. Saturday they were guests of Twaalfskill.

Anthony J. DeLisio, president of the Woodstock club, presented the Herdegen Memorial plaque to Hughes. The other prizes were awarded by Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor, who is director of the tournament.

A friendly tip to some of the oldies who take junior baseball too, too seriously. Why not give the game back to the small fry for whom it was originally intended.

Such a sensible approach to the whole problem of small fry baseball might also alleviate the currently desperate umpire situation. You can't expect a man who volunteers to umpire (without pay) to take abuse from adults who supervise the teams, and the fans, too. Think it over, gentlemen.

If we had our way, there wouldn't be an adult on the coaching lines in any type of junior baseball. Let the kids work out their own problems.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Best kept secret of the DUSO year, the election of our local superintendent, Arthur J. Laidlaw, to the presidency of the DUSO League. Frank Nadal, a staunch baseball man, who speaks Spanish fluently, had quite a time with the Cuban contingent of the Kansas City Monarchs and Indianapolis Clowns Wednesday at the stadium. Wonder how the conversation runs these days when Joe Hoffman and Tom Davitt discuss the relative merits of their baseball offspring? Allen E. Lybolt, of Ellenville, won third place in the Brown Trout division of the Wehle Fishing Contest for the month of May with an 8 pound, 2 ounce, beauty plucked from the Merriman Dam. Although the Destroyer A.C. boasts only a modest .500 mark in the City Softball League (5-5) they swear by Frank Boyce as the top hurler in the circuit.

Leo Durocher can scheme and dream but he can't get Wes Westrum out of that Giant lineup when the chips are down. Fellows like Sal Yvars, Ebba St. Claire were, at various times, figured ahead of the former Kingston Recreation catcher. This year, Ray Katt started out as the big man behind the bat. But he broke his hand and now the Giants are back with Westrum—and the realization, which always follows the departure of the other catcher—that this guy Wesley Noreen Westrum is a pretty good catcher.

"This is the best catcher, mechanically, that we have in baseball," Leo Durocher admits with enthusiasm. "When he gets behind the plate nobody runs. He calls the right pitch. He's murder on bunts in front of the plate. He's starting to hurt the other guy with the bat, too."

• Of Gargantuan Clouts:

Fran Herrera, the Kansas City Monarchs' youthful Cuban first base giant, powered a line drive home run blast past the light pole in deep left at the stadium. And it got veteran stadium habituees thinking about illustrious shots of the past. The longest clout this observer ever saw at the uptown park came soaring off the bat of the late Josh Gibson, perhaps the No. 1 Negro catcher of all time. (With apologies to Roy Campanella and Buck Ewing). It was hit during a batting practice of the Homestead Grays before a pre-war game with the Recreations. The ball on one hop bounced off the booth at the upper entrance gate. Joe DiMaggio pounded one of Whitey Tulacz's pitches a mile high and a mile high over the left field embankment. And the night the Boston Braves met the Recreations in August, 1942, big Max West smashed a tremendous triple high off the bank in deep right field. Those three blasts will have to do as the all-timer homeric socks at Dietz Stadium.

They tell this one about Ducky Medwick, managing Tampa, censuring one of his young hands for going after balls far out of the strike zone. The rookie bleated, "But, Mr. Medwick, I read where you were the greatest of bad ball hitters." . . . "I was," replied Ducky, "but I used a Reach bat. . . ."

Stewart Ties Bolt at 271

Wethersfield, Conn., June 28 (AP)—Colorful Tommy Bolt and red-haired Earl Stewart Jr., meet today in a battle of Texans for top money in the $15,000 Insurance City Open golf tournament.

They tied yesterday at 271 in the 72-hole tourney, one of New England's major sports events, and were scheduled to start an 18-hole playoff at 12:30 p. m. (EST). The low score at the end of the round will be worth $2,500, with $1,800 going to the loser.

Stewart picked up five strokes on Bolt yesterday. Bolt had trouble with his putter and toured the 6,551-yard par 35-36-71 course in regulation figures.

Julius Boros, Southern Pines, N. C., finished third with 273 for $1,400. Box Toski, Livingston, N. J., victor here a year ago, finished with 278.

Leaders Keep Rolling

Giants Beat Yanks, 8-4 For 9th Straight Win

League Standing

Giants	9	0

Dodgers	2	6
Indians	1	8

Some teams can crowd the Esopus Little Giants but nobody has yet found a way to beat them.

The undefeated league leaders rolled over the Yankees, 8-4, Saturday for their ninth straight win without setback.

In the other game, the Indians shaded the Dodgers, 9-8, for their first victory in nine starts. The Yankees, in second place, have a record of 4 wins and 4 losses.

The Giants beat Charlie Brooks despite the fact he permitted only six hits and struck out 10. Darrell Myers and Curtis King collaborated to hold the Yankees to three safeties, two of them by John Dailey. Dave Cromite's double was the other.

Myers Saves Game

Darrell Myers stroked a single and double for the Giants. Ron Halsey and Curtis King also rapped doubles. Myers also saved the game in relief.

The Indians spotted the Dodgers, a 7-4 lead in the first two innings before the relief pitching and hitting of Bernie turned the tide.

Brown pounded a double and triple for the winners, while Jim Tinney went "3 for 3" including two singles and a double.

John Carter slugged a homer for the winners, who made 9 hits off Richard Terpening. The latter fanned 10 and Brown had seven strikeout victims. Terpening also had a double and single. Gene Nilan tripled and Bob Robinson hit a double. Matt Jones stroked two singles.

THE SCOREBOARD

(By The Associated Press)

Five major league teams are waging a bitter battle to gain first place by the Fourth of July—the date that tradition has marked as "championship day."

Since the turn of the century approximately seven out of every 10 leaders on July 4 have gone on to win the pennant.

With only a week to go, no team is assured of the top spot on the mid-season holiday. The New York Giants lead Brooklyn by one game today but the National League pace-setters face a "crucial" three game series with the Dodgers at the Polo Grounds starting Tuesday.

Cleveland boasts a game and a half advantage over Chicago in the American League but the White Sox can dislodge the Indians with a sweep of their four-game series in Cleveland next weekend. A let-down by each can pave the way for the New York Yankees to move into the lead.

While the Indians and White Sox are at each other's throats, the Yankees will engage the second division Washington Senators in a four-game set at Yankee Stadium.

The Indians widened their lead to a game and a half yesterday salvaging the last of a three-game series from the Yankees 4-3 while Chicago was held to a split by Boston's Red Sox. Beaten 2-1 in the opener, the White Sox bounced back to trounce Boston 9-1 in the second game. The loss widened the Yankees' deficit to three games.

New York's sizzling Giants maintained their slim advantage over the Dodgers with an uphill 3-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs in 10 innings.

Blanked by Warren Hacker with two hits through eight innings, the Giants tied the score at 2-2 when Whitey Lockman hit a two-run homer with two out in the ninth. They won in the 10th when Willie Mays doubled, stole third and scored on pinch hitter Bobby Hofman's single off loser Hal Jeffcoat. It was the Giants' 21st victory in their last 25 games and the Cubs' 10th straight defeat.

Dodgers Rout Haddix

The Dodgers equalled a team record by blasting five home runs to polish off the St. Louis Cardinals 8-6 for a sweep of their three-game series. Gil Hodges drove in four runs with his 19th and 20th homers and Jackie Robinson, Roy Campanella and Junior Gilliam each had one.

Harvey Haddix, the Redbirds' brilliant lefthander, was the victim of all the home run blasts that fractured his 10-game winning streak. Preacher Roe failed to last the eighth but was credited with his third triumph.

Granny Hamner was the offensive star as the Philadelphia Phillies swept a twin bill from Milwaukee 4-3 and 2-1. He banged a three-run homer to give Curt Simmons his seventh victory in the opener. Hamner tripled with one out in the ninth to drive in both runs in the nightcap.

Frank Thomas' ninth inning single gave Pittsburgh a 4-3 victory after the Cincinnati Reds had won the opener 9-0 behind Corky Valentine's five-hit pitching.

First baseman Dick Kryhoski drove in the winning runs in each game as the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Philadelphia Athletics twice 4-3 and 3-2 to climb into sixth place. The double win gave the Orioles five straight following a nine-game losing streak.

Bob Porterfield, backed up by the homer hitting of Edie Yost, Pete Runnels and Mickey Vernon, coasted to his ninth victory as Washington walloped Detroit 8-2.

Homers by Dave Philley and Wally Westlake and four-hit relief pitching by Hal Newhouser through six innings gave the Indians their hard-fought triumph over Whitey Ford and the Yankees.

Held to five hits by young Tom Brewer in the opener, the White Sox pounded three Boston pitchers for 13 hits in the nightcap to give rookie Jack Harshman his fourth victory.

Kiner Regains Lead in Voting

Chicago, June 28 (AP)—Ralph Kiner of the Chicago Cubs regained the lead for the National League's starting left field position in All-Star baseball voting today.

The former league home run champ replaced Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson with a total of 288,619 votes to 284,101.

The poll, which opened June 11, ends at midnight Saturday. Final returns, naming the starting lineups selected by fans for the annual interleague game in Cleveland July 13, will be announced next Monday.

Stan Musial, St. Louis Cardinal right fielder, continued to lead the individual vote-getters with 298,706. Minnie Minoso, Chicago White Sox left fielder is second with 296,042.

THE SCOREBOARD

(By The Associated Press)

Five major league teams are waging a bitter battle to gain first place by the Fourth of July—the date that tradition has marked as championship day."

Since the turn of the century approximately seven out of every 10 leaders on July 4 have gone on to win the pennant.

With only a week to go, no team is assured of the top spot on the mid-season holiday. The New York Giants lead Brooklyn by one game today but the National League pace-setters face a "crucial" three game series with the Dodgers at the Polo Grounds starting Tuesday.

Cleveland boasts a game and a half advantage over Chicago in the American League but the White Sox can dislodge the Indians with a sweep of their four-game series in Cleveland next weekend. A let-down by each can pave the way for the New York Yankees to move into the lead.

While the Indians and White Sox are at each other's throats, the Yankees will engage the second division Washington Senators in a four-game set at Yankee Stadium.

The Indians widened their lead to a game and a half yesterday salvaging the last of a three-game series from the Yankees 4-3 while Chicago was held to a split by Boston's Red Sox. Beaten 2-1 in the opener, the White Sox bounced back to trounce Boston 9-1 in the second game. The loss widened the Yankees' deficit to three games.

New York's sizzling Giants maintained their slim advantage over the Dodgers with an uphill 3-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs in 10 innings.

Blanked by Warren Hacker with two hits through eight innings, the Giants tied the score at 2-2 when Whitey Lockman hit a two-run homer with two out in the ninth. They won in the 10th when Willie Mays doubled, stole third and scored on pinch hitter Bobby Hofman's single off loser Hal Jeffcoat. It was the Giants' 21st victory in their last 25 games and the Cubs' 10th straight defeat.

Dodgers Rout Haddix

The Dodgers equalled a team record by blasting five home runs to polish off the St. Louis Cardinals 8-6 for a sweep of their three-game series. Gil Hodges drove in four runs with his 19th and 20th homers and Jackie Robinson, Roy Campanella and Junior Gilliam each had one.

Harvey Haddix, the Redbirds' brilliant lefthander, was the victim of all the home run blasts that fractured his 10-game winning streak. Preacher Roe failed to last the eighth but was credited with his third triumph.

Granny Hamner was the offensive star as the Philadelphia Phillies swept a twin bill from Milwaukee 4-3 and 2-1. He banged a three-run homer to give Curt Simmons his seventh victory in the opener. Hamner tripled with one out in the ninth to drive in both runs in the nightcap.

Frank Thomas' ninth inning single gave Pittsburgh a 4-3 victory after the Cincinnati Reds had won the opener 9-0 behind Corky Valentine's five-hit pitching.

First baseman Dick Kryhoski drove in the winning runs in each game as the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Philadelphia Athletics twice 4-3 and 3-2 to climb into sixth place. The double win gave the Orioles five straight following a nine-game losing streak.

Bob Porterfield, backed up by the homer hitting of Edie Yost, Pete Runnels and Mickey Vernon, coasted to his ninth victory as Washington walloped Detroit 8-2.

Homers by Dave Philley and Wally Westlake and four-hit relief pitching by Hal Newhouser through six innings gave the Indians their hard-fought triumph over Whitey Ford and the Yankees.

Held to five hits by young Tom Brewer in the opener, the White Sox pounded three Boston pitchers for 13 hits in the nightcap to give rookie Jack Harshman his fourth victory.

Kiner Regains Lead in Voting

Chicago, June 28 (AP)—Ralph Kiner of the Chicago Cubs regained the lead for the National League's starting left field position in All-Star baseball voting today.

The former league home run champ replaced Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson with a total of 288,619 votes to 284,101.

The poll, which opened June 11, ends at midnight Saturday. Final returns, naming the starting lineups selected by fans for the annual interleague game in Cleveland July 13, will be announced next Monday.

Stan Musial, St. Louis Cardinal right fielder, continued to lead the individual vote-getters with 298,706. Minnie Minoso, Chicago White Sox left fielder is second with 296,042.

Want Ad Induced Would-Be Tailor To Become Clown

A Help Wanted ad for an apprentice bareback rider, placed in a New York German-language daily in 1915 by a midwestern circus, led Otto Griebling to become a clown instead of the tailor his mother hoped he'd be. Otto later switched to clowning, today is the famous pantomimic clown with Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey.

He said the people were rounded up Sept. 23, 1944, under the ruse of a festival celebrating Red army victories. Stripped of all weapons, they were given an hour to pack, then loaded in railroad cars which were locked and sealed.

Modena

Modena, June 26—Members of the Wesleyan Service Guild report that their strawberry festival Saturday night was a success. Members and several assistants were dressed in old-fashioned frocks. A musical program was in charge of Mrs. John E. Swords. Japanese lanterns and colored lights gave the lawn a festive air and those present enjoyed the occasion. A report of the proceeds, to be donated to the church building fund, will be given at the September meeting of the Guild by Mrs. Emmett Hyatt, chairman.

The annual picnic of the public health nursing committee of the town of Plattekill was held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Milton Van Duser in Plattekill. Attending were Mrs. Arthur Kasinski of Wallkill, Miss Mary Carroll of Amsterdam, Mrs. Bernard Kopaskie of Plattekill, Mrs. Lillian Courter, Mrs. Earl B. DeWitt Sr., Mrs. Simon DuBois, Mrs. Stewart Pink, Mrs. Ralph Tice of Modena.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Ward entertained at a picnic supper Sunday night for Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mills of Newburgh, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson G. Hedges of Modena.

Harold Hyatt is spending a few days of his vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hyatt in New York.

Edward Stelle and daughter, Besty of Eugene, Ore., visited his aunt, Mrs. Myron L. Shultis during the week. Mr. Stelle, a banker, was on a trip to the east coast, and stayed at the Governor Clinton in Kingston during his stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burke of Poughkeepsie are the parents of a son born June 12 at Poughkeepsie. Mrs. Burke is the former Evelyn Doolittle of Modena.

Mr. and Mrs. George Homovich and son Richard are spending this weekend at their home near Walton. Mr. Homovich is employed by John Arborio on the thruway project.

William Doolittle has returned from a motor trip to Montreal, Can. and Vermont.

Mrs. Frank E. Miller has returned to her home in Menlo Park, Calif., after spending several days with Mrs. Anna L. Miller whom she accompanied to the east coast.

At a recent meeting of the Town Board of Plattekill, Andrew Monteola and William Doolittle of the Town Board of Plattekill were appointed to check on the names of roads and sections in the Town of Plattekill, leading to main highways 44, 55 and 32. These roads will be designed later and compiled for reference in 1955.

Miss Hein to Accept $23,500 for Home

Yonkers, June 28 (AP)—Miss Lisa Hein has capitulated to the New York State Thruway Authority and will accept $23,500 for her house which stands directly in the way of the highway construction.

The price includes the kitchen sink, for which the 52-year-old Miss Hein fought a hopeless battle with the state.

The sink was only two years old, Miss Hein contended, and she wanted to take it with her when she moved. The state, however, claimed the sink was included in the price and it would have to stay.

While Miss Hein and sister refused to budge, workers cut 40-foot excavations beside the house and began blasting. Finally, a few days ago, the two ladies decided to abandon the embattled home.

Yesterday, Miss Hein sadly announced she has accpeted the state's offer, including the sink.

Soldier Is Killed

Norwalk, Conn., June 28 (AP)—A soldier was killed and a sailor severely injured when their car overturned on the Merritt Parkway here today. Dead is August G. Arruda, 27, of North Tiverton, R. I., a soldier listed by state police as driver of the car. Under treatment for severe facial and head injuries is Ronald Stretar, 23, of Boston, Mass., a sailor who was riding with Arruda. State Policeman George Turrell said Arruda's car swerved from the highway when the driver apparently fell asleep. As the car hurtled from the highway, Arruda was thrown from it. The vehicle overturned on him.

affairs of their enemies and plan their revenge. I don't know whether Mr. Sulzberger had any knowledge of such practices then, but if not isn't it a proper function of a great paper to dig out such facts now and expose the regime to the disgrace it deserves for such dirty work even though the New York Times did admire and support the administration?

I ain't afraid. And I keep wondering what Sulzberger and the Times have on their minds that they are so fearful of some awful fate just because Joe McCarthy despises Communists.

Says McCarty Asset

New York, June 28 (AP)—The chairman of the GOP congressional campaign committee says communism will definitely be an election issue this year and Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R.-Wis.) "will prove to be an asset" to the Republican party. Rep. Richard Simpson (R.-Pa.) said yesterday, "we can elect more Republicans if we use McCarthy" throughout the country. Simpson said on a television program (ABC, Answers for Americans) he will "urge" McCarthy to campaign for GOP candidates who ask for his help.

Modena

Modena, June 26—Members of the Wesleyan Service Guild report that their strawberry festival Saturday night was a success. Members and several assistants were dressed in old-fashioned frocks. A musical program was in charge of Mrs. John E. Swords. Japanese lanterns and colored lights gave the lawn a festive air and those present enjoyed the occasion. A report of the proceeds, to be donated to the church building fund, will be given at the September meeting of the Guild by Mrs. Emmett Hyatt, chairman.

The annual picnic of the public health nursing committee of the town of Plattekill was held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Milton Van Duser in Plattekill. Attending were Mrs. Arthur Kasinski of Wallkill, Miss Mary Carroll of Amsterdam, Mrs. Bernard Kopaskie of Plattekill, Mrs. Lillian Courter, Mrs. Earl B. DeWitt Sr., Mrs. Simon DuBois, Mrs. Stewart Pink, Mrs. Ralph Tice of Modena.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Ward entertained at a picnic supper Sunday night for Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mills of Newburgh, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson G. Hedges of Modena.

Harold Hyatt is spending a few days of his vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hyatt in New York.

Edward Stelle and daughter, Besty of Eugene, Ore., visited his aunt, Mrs. Myron L. Shultis during the week. Mr. Stelle, a banker, was on a trip to the east coast, and stayed at the Governor Clinton in Kingston during his stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burke of Poughkeepsie are the parents of a son born June 12 at Poughkeepsie. Mrs. Burke is the former Evelyn Doolittle of Modena.

Mr. and Mrs. George Homovich and son Richard are spending this weekend at their home near Walton. Mr. Homovich is employed by John Arborio on the thruway project.

William Doolittle has returned from a motor trip to Montreal, Can. and Vermont.

Mrs. Frank E. Miller has returned to her home in Menlo Park, Calif., after spending several days with Mrs. Anna L. Miller whom she accompanied to the east coast.

At a recent meeting of the Town Board of Plattekill, Andrew Monteola and William Doolittle of the Town Board of Plattekill were appointed to check on the names of roads and sections in the Town of Plattekill, leading to main highways 44, 55 and 32. These roads will be designed later and compiled for reference in 1955.

Miss Hein to Accept $23,500 for Home

Yonkers, June 28 (AP)—Miss Lisa Hein has capitulated to the New York State Thruway Authority and will accept $23,500 for her house which stands directly in the way of the highway construction.

The price includes the kitchen sink, for which the 52-year-old Miss Hein fought a hopeless battle with the state.

The sink was only two years old, Miss Hein contended, and she wanted to take it with her when she moved. The state, however, claimed the sink was included in the price and it would have to stay.

While Miss Hein and sister refused to budge, workers cut 40-foot excavations beside the house and began blasting. Finally, a few days ago, the two ladies decided to abandon the embattled home.

Yesterday, Miss Hein sadly announced she has accpeted the state's offer, including the sink.

Soldier Is Killed

Norwalk, Conn., June 28 (AP)—A soldier was killed and a sailor severely injured when their car overturned on the Merritt Parkway here today. Dead is August G. Arruda, 27, of North Tiverton, R. I., a soldier listed by state police as driver of the car. Under treatment for severe facial and head injuries is Ronald Stretar, 23, of Boston, Mass., a sailor who was riding with Arruda. State Policeman George Turrell said Arruda's car swerved from the highway when the driver apparently fell asleep. As the car hurtled from the highway, Arruda was thrown from it. The vehicle overturned on him.

As Pegler Sees It

affairs of their enemies and plan their revenge. I don't know whether Mr. Sulzberger had any knowledge of such practices then, but if not isn't it a proper function of a great paper to dig out such facts now and expose the regime to the disgrace it deserves for such dirty work even though the New York Times did admire and support the administration?

I ain't afraid. And I keep wondering what Sulzberger and the Times have on their minds that they are so fearful of some awful fate just because Joe McCarthy despises Communists.

Says McCarty Asset

New York, June 28 (AP)—The chairman of the GOP congressional campaign committee says communism will definitely be an election issue this year and Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R.-Wis.) "will prove to be an asset" to the Republican party. Rep. Richard Simpson (R.-Pa.) said yesterday, "we can elect more Republicans if we use McCarthy" throughout the country. Simpson said on a television program (ABC, Answers for Americans) he will "urge" McCarthy to campaign for GOP candidates who ask for his help.
